3 Suspects in Custody in D.C. Slaying

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Three young suspects are in custody today in connection with the bloody gang-style shooting in front of a Daly City home Sunday in which one youth was shot to death and four others were severely wounded.

The shooting culminated what Police Sergeant John Kolbman called a "long-simmering disagreement between two youth groups."

Those arrested are from the Excelsior District of San Francisco, while the wounded are all from Daly City.

Arrested after issuance of an all-points bulletin by Kolbman were Mark William Garcia, 18, of 184 Goethe Street; Henry J. Ontiveros, 19, of 174 Brookdale Avenue, and Leslie Paul Smith, 20, of 3 Blythdale Street — all in the Sunnydale Housing project of San Francisco.

Ontiveros and Garcia were arrested at their homes while Smith was found sitting in a parked car in front of a Schwerin Street home not far from the shooting scene, police said.

Three other youths, including Ronnie David DeLarosa, 20, are wanted for questioning in connection with the incident.

The fracas that ended in a bloodbath in front of 451 Bellevue Avenue in a normally quiet residential area of east Daly City about 11:30 p.m. started at a Mission district drive-in restaurant in San Francisco several hours before.

Sergeant Kolbman said the feud between the two gangs had been going on "in one degree or another" for several weeks.

Kerry McDowell, the 19-year-old killed with a single bullet from a 9mm pistol, and his friend, Rene Edmondson, 19, of 174 Carmilla Street, Daly City, were at the Doggie Diner restaurant at the corner of 23rd and Mission streets, San Francisco, when they were accosted by several youths from the rival gang, police said.

In that altercation, McDowell was stabbed in the hand and Edmondson in the chest, arm and hand.

Edmondson was reported in serious condition today at San Francisco General Hospital.

McDowell, father of a year-old daughter and the son of a San Francisco fire department lieutenant, was treated for the stab wound and released.

It is now believed that McDowell was followed to the home of Jack and Patrick Clements at 451 Bellevue.

Standing in front of the home were McDowell, the Clement brothers, Gary Peachey, 19, of 8 Cerro Drive, Daly City, and David Gonzales, 19, of 852 87th Street, Daly City.

Police found some baseball bats secreted in bushes nearby and surmise the Daly City youths were going to use them to "protect" themselves.

But the car containing the rival gang had barely stopped when shots were fired into the group of seven youths standing in front of the home. Semi-automatic rifles and a pistol were used.

McDowell fell with a bullet wound in the neck.

Jack Clements, 16, and his brother Patrick, 19, were hit in the hips, thighs and legs. They are reported in satisfactory condition today at Mary's Help Hospital.

In guarded condition today following extensive surgery were Gonzales, with chest and abdominal wounds, and Peachey, with abdominal wounds.

Kolbman said police had thus far impounded two cars believed connected with the incident. However, he would not elaborate on any evidence found in the cars.

Rumors of retaliation by friends of the Daly City youths ran rampant immediately following the incident. But Kolbman said both his department and San Francisco community relations officers are working closely to prevent any flareup between the two youth groups or their friends.

"We have the situation in control at this time. We do not need any help from friends of either side in this matter. I would advise those seeking to help one side or the other to think twice," Kolbman warned.

Reclaimed Sewage for Irrigation Indicated

by FRANK LaPIERRE

North San Mateo County may, in the not too distant future, use reclaimed sewage to irrigate golf courses, parks and similar open space — something that San Francisco has been doing at Golden Gate Park for the past 41 years.

However, the proposed multi-million dollar sewage reclamation plant, a part of the present treatment facility in Daly City, will be far more advanced than that used by San Francisco, officials promise.

Using reclaimed water — sewage, if you will — to irrigate plants and grass at Golden Gate Park solved two major problems for that city: it provided a cheap source of water and took care of the disposal problem normally related to treated sewage.

The North San Mateo County Sanitation District treatment plant located in a corner of Westlake Park in Daly City, is not now capable of producing such results. It merely treats some 6 million gallons of sewage daily and discharges it through the Vista Grande tunnel into the Pacific Ocean.

The tunnel itself, like the Golden Gate Park treatment facility, is vintage and on the verge of breakdown.

Then there is the major problem facing the entire area North County: Where does tomorrow's water come from?

Engineers have already disclosed the water table for Daly City and environs is fast diminishing. What water wells there are have to be sunk deeper almost annually.

Heavy rains that lashed the area in recent months have not sufficiently revitalized this water table. With building and consumption on the increase another source must be found.

In fact, North San Mateo County is faced with a critical water shortage. There have been suggestions by water engineers that wells in the district — except those operated by municipalities — be shut down.

As the problem of where to get more water mounts, and regulations on what to do with treated sewage become stricter, the logical answer appears to lie in combining the two: Treat sewage to a point where it is potable enough for use in irrigating.

Experts feel that one day in the not too distant future some cities will find themselves completely dependent on treated sewage for human consumption.

There are some small such projects in the works now around the country.

But it will be a long time before treated sewage will be readily acceptable in the average household, many persons close to the field predict.

Recently, a gathering of officials from several North County cemeteries, golf courses in San Mateo and San Francisco counties and city officials attended a briefing of a proposed new multi-million dollar treatment plant addition to the existing plant in Daly City.

The luncheon was held at the Lake Merced Golf and Country Club — a potential user of reclaimed water.

At this meeting, engineer Robert Bernicchi, former manager of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District and now a consultant with Arman Anoshian, and David Gehre, present manager of the NSMCSD plant, outlined their plans for reclaiming sewage.

The water experts told of the "alarming decrease" in local water tables and of results of studies which indicate the potential use of reclaimed sewage.

The Daly City plant now treats six million gallons of sewage daily. This would be expanded to perhaps 12 million and recycled for watering the lush cemeteries and golf courses of the North County and across the line into San Francisco.

Such treated waste water might even be discharged back into the water table and underground where it would be purified and refortified with minerals by Mother Nature, thus bringing the water table back up to normal, Bernicchi said.

The potential is a staggering 2000 plus acres of reclaimed water daily.

Daly City now uses seven million a day — four from its own wells and three from the Hetch Hetchy water system owned and operated by San Francisco.

And if San Francisco decides it must first supply its own needs and further decides to cut off San Mateo County, where can the North County turn, Bernicchi asked?

"The answer is reclaimed sewage," he explained.

County Is Seeking Land Control, Lycett Claims

Fears that the county is taking away authority from cities to control land use was expressed Thursday at a meeting of the San Mateo County Council of Mayors meeting in Portola Valley.

In telling his concern, Mayor Bernard J. Lycett of Daly City admitted his objections were triggered by the county's Local Agency Formation Committee placing San Bruno Mountain into Brisbane's sphere of influence.

"I must admit that our frustration and disappointement was great, as that mountain is the same thing to all of us."

Lycett said that it was he that originally brought up a proposal before the county's Regional Planning Committee that the mountain should be used as a recreational playground.

He said when he examined the decision of LAFCO he became angry because the "inference is that these things are going to the county and then turned back to the cities—because we are unable to do our own thing. I do not look at the county's planning record as this great.

"If this were not enough, they are stretching out to Sugarloaf, to the Coastside and to an environmental study of Colma Creek. This involves a lot of people. I don't think we deserve this. I am proud about how the cities can handle their own problems, and we do not need an overseer."

Lycett noted that County Manager M. D. Tarshes is recommending six new planners for next year, including an "outside planner" and a consultant.

The premises for this, he asserted, was for the county's general plan, which means the county is going outside its own area.

"When they get through planning, then they will turn this back to the cities."

Lycett said the motto of the mayors' council for five years has been:

"Strong Local Government—The Bulwark of American Democracy."

The Daly City mayor asked that the mayors take a strong position against any form of government taking away local government from its constituents.

Mayor John J. Murray Jr. of San Mateo, chairman of the mayors' council, agreed that "many of us are of the opinion that all wisdom does not lie in Washington and Sacramento."

San Mateo City Attorney Maurice K. Hamilton presented a new form setting up guidelines to be filled in for environmental impact studies.

The proposal was prepared by a committee of city attorneys, which would allow some projects to be approved with an environmental impact study and would allow applications for some projects to fill in on forms without a full study.

He pointed out that there are from 100 to 9,000 reports being submitted to cities per year, and a common approach with the provision for a 10-day appeal would facilitate matters.

Hamilton reported that San Mateo wishes to limit the exempt status of projects, and said that interested citizens could be notified by notice.

300 at Redevelop Meeting

A proposal for redevelopment in the area surrounding the Bay Area Rapid Transit station in Daly City came before the city's Planning Commission in a public hearing that attracted some 300 persons last week.

It was generally a well-behaved group with the majority of those attending in opposition to the plan to redevelop a portion of what has become known as "Old Daly City."

The target area for redevelopment as set by the Redevelopment Agency-City Council was boiled down to a few blocks around the BART station from a much larger project suggested by a 24 member citizens advisory committee appointed by the city.

Representatives of the Original Daly City Protective Association trooped before the five member commission after hearing city manager David Rowe outline the agency's recommendations on the issue.

Each protested the project in one form or another.

Some did not like the current boundaries and felt they did not encompass enough of the area.

Some resented the use of the word "blighted" in describing their neighborhoods.

Conrad Pavellas, co-chairman of the ODCPA, said he had been told his property taxes might rise some $6,500 this year, a switch from his stand on the same issue last year.

Another ODCPA spokesman, Tim Hurd, accused the limited project boundaries as being a form of gerrymandering and that they "showed complete indifference" to the people of the area.

Pavellas at one point in his presentation pointed out that Daly City had the same problems in housing as other cities in the Bay Area.

"All cities have problems," Pavellas said, "but all cities do not have a BART station."

The ODCPA has contended for the past two years that the land is being razed to make way for "big developers," thereby cutting the "little man" out of any chance of realizing a profit on his land.

That is the reason for formation of the Redevelopment Association the ODCPA has repeatedly charged.

Reverend Hosey Spears was stronger in his condemnation of the proposed project than most.

He called the city's answers on some questions "a snow job."

And he asked for a

Aimed at Ottoboni

Colma Recall Petition

A recall petition has been filed with the Colma City Clerk's Office against veteran Colma Councilman and former mayor Raymond Ottoboni charging him with, among other things, nepotism in the hiring of his son as police chief.

The petition is signed by some 45 persons — more than the required number needed to put it to a vote of the people.

Ottoboni's current term would normally expire in 1974.

In recent months, according to Elsie Campbell, author of the recall, Ottoboni practiced nepotism for his participation in the appointment of his son as chief of police of Colma and in a recent pay raise granted his son.

Also, his participation in the appointment of Glenn Duncan, married to Ottoboni's niece, according to the petition.

Ottoboni, in a counter statement, said Duncan was not related to him and his appointment was based on the fact that Duncan was once the "mayor" of a village in Japan.

Mrs. Campbell and petition co-author Marion Rae Daneluz, owner of a Colma flower shop, also criticized Ottoboni for what Mrs. Daneluz called his "evasion of payment" on sewer hookups and related charges at several homes he owns in the city.

Ottoboni was forced to pay back taxes on the sewers — some $1200 — after the North San Mateo County Sanitation District's board of directors ordered him to last year.

The original estimate of what Ottoboni owed was some $8200, however the NSMCSD was advised many of the charges were past the statute of limitations in such cases.

Ottoboni said an error in the petitition's statement was the fact that four persons voted for the appointment of his son as police chief and Duncan as councilman.

Even had he not voted, the appointments would have been made, Ottoboni contends.

But Mrs. Daneluz and Mrs. Campbell said without Ottoboni pushing the issue neither appointment would have been made.

They also argue that persons signing the petition, including themselves, have been under "extreme pressure" from "a group of councilmen."

They declined to name the group "until the matter gets out of hand."

Ottoboni's son was himself a councilman, having been elected to the post. He left that post to assume the duties of a police officer under the late chief Dini Lagomarsino.

Amidst protests from a segment of the small community, the younger Ottoboni was appointed to fill chief Lagomarsino's job upon his death.

The councilman who is also on the city's Planning Commission, reportedly labeled the recall petition a "vindictive attack by a small minority of people" out to disrupt the otherwise smooth proceedings of the community.

Mrs. Daneluz and Mrs. Campbell said they are out to "bring representative government to city hall."

D.C. Woman Pleads Guilty

Mary Catherine Knox, 26-year-old Daly City woman, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and possession of a concealed weapon on Friday in the shooting of a Foster City man last December 9.

Superior Court Judge Gerald A. Ragan accepted the pleas at a pre-trial conference, with the understanding that the assault charge will be dealt with as a misdemeanor.

The defendant is charged with shooting Walter Wilson, 26, at his Foster City apartment.

County 'Shared' Funds Plan

County Manager M. D. Tarshes recommended to the Board of Supervisors Tuesday that the county's revenue-sharing income be allocated to maintain existing and essential county programs threatened by property tax limitations imposed by Senate Bill 90.

Furthermore, the county manager proposed that the $1.8 million county sales tax income be diverted from exclusive allocation for capital improvement projects and used as a general revenue source in financing the total general fund budget beginning in 1973-74.

Tarshes noted in his report that the county is receiving $2,850,000 in 1972 from revenue-sharing, considerably lower than California counties of comparable size, because of San Mateo's high per capita income and relatively low tax rate. Some counties of comparable size are receiving up to $9 million a year in revenue sharing.

After hearing Tarshes' recommendations, the board directed that he prepare a list of priority requests being received by his office, with an analysis, for consideration by the board at its May 24 meeting prior to the start of budget hearings.

However, action on the proposal to drop exclusive allocation of sales tax revenue for capital improvement projects was continued for one week.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald said he would like time to

Developers May Pay For Schools

A joint resolution that would lead to a requirement that developers provide money for temporary school space is to be drawn up by Half Moon Bay City Manager Fred Mortensen and Cabrillo Unified School District Supt. Dan M. Thompson for next week and then directed at the County Board of Supervisors.

The city council and district board of trustees met last night in special session to consider the resoluiton. Both will consider it at separate meetings next week, the council Monday and the board Tuesday.

The school district considers itself in a bind because pending development on the mid-Coastside threatens to outrun the district's ability to provide school space for incoming students.

The new trend is toward adding provisions to zoning ordinances requiring that certain facilities be made available "concurrent with need," meaning contributions from builders toward temporary classrooms, if needed, until permanent ones can be built. The city has the power to do this, the school district doesn't.

It takes six months to put up a housing development but two years to plan and build a school, the district has pointed out.

The resolution will be read to the Board of Supervisors, which will be asked to support it because much of the Cabrillo District is in unincorporated county area.

If the county agrees to cooperate, it is hoped the staffs of the three agencies will meet to draft an appropriate ordinance.

Fire Bombs at Clubhouse

Two fire bombs were tossed at the Lincoln Park Clubhouse in Daly City about midnight on Monday causing an estimated $700 in damages to an exterior wall.

No one was hurt in the bombings.

Fire investigators found the remnants of two quart-sized soda bottles and paper napkins, apparently used as wicks for the gasoline bombs.

There was no apparent reason for the bombings, investigators said.

2 S.S.F. Police Cars Wrecked in Chase

Three cars were wrecked, including two police cars, and a garage door was splintered in a high speed South San Francisco chase Monday night.

At 8:40 p.m., officers Mark Raffaelli and Tom Vellone were dispatched to 321 Southcliff Avenue on a disturbance complaint — for the second time that evening.

On their way up, they noted Thomas E. Heath, 23, leaving the scene in his car. They tried to stop him for questioning — and instead, he stepped on the gas pedal and roared off. He headed down Arroyo Drive, through the red signal on El Camino Real and north on El Camino, at speeds of up to 60 miles per hour.

At times, police alleged, Heath would veer over to the opposite lane, causing cars to swerve off the highway to avoid a head-on crash.

On El Camino Real, between Hickey Boulevard and Arlington Drive, two officers, Raffaelli and Stan Bennett, tried to box in the fleeing car. Heath, however, rammed his car into Bennett's patrol car, backed up, and rammed it into Bennett's car again. Finally, with all three cars disabled, Heath alighted from his car, swinging at Vellone, police allege.

It was later learned that Heath had rammed the garage door at 321 Southcliff Avenue before leaving that address. He gave his address as the Golden Eagle Hotel in South San Francisco. He was due to appear in court yesterday on charges of assault with a deadly weapon—his car — resisting an officer, reckless driving, and hit-run driving.

review the matter, commenting he is "not convinced this is an improvement."

Board Chairman Robert St. Clair concurred. Noting that Supervisors Gerald F. Day and Jean Fassler were not present at the meeting, he said he would like a "full board present to consider a major change in county policy."

Day and Mrs. Fassler are attending the annual legislative conference of the National Association of County Officials in Washington, D.C.

Reporting that federal legislation requires development of a plan for expenditure of revenue sharing funds, Tarshes recommended that the board set a date for May or early June to receive public requests for the use of such funds, keeping in mind that first priority for use of the funds will be for continuation of current service levels of existing and essential county programs during June budget hearings.

Assistant County Manager Earl Goodwin said that the switch in exclusive allocation of sales tax revenue means that capital improvement projects now will have to "stand in line for priority" with the remainder of county budget items.

However, he noted, there already are existing commitments of sales tax revenues, such as payments for the Hall of Justice expansion, which cannot be dropped.

Tarshes warned in his report that even adding sales tax revenues may not make it possible to finance ongoing programs and other obligations next year.

"It may be that the proposed budget cannot provide all necessary services," he stated.

The manager said that in the latter event, the board may have to decide in June to continue some programs with federal revenue-sharing money — "even though that is a temporary financing source."

Big Scouting Show Slated

Preparations for the biggest Scouting Show ever held in San Mateo County have begun. A preview of Scout-O-Rama, May 11 and 12, was held Thursday evening at the San Mateo Fairgrounds, site of this year's show.

Duane McDowell, San Carlos, Scout-O-Rama chairman, expects over 200 Scouting units to participate in this year's show. The theme for this year's Scout-O-Rama is "Scouting on Display" according to Duane, and all exhibitors will demonstrate activities that the Scouts engage in. Some known exhibits will be Pinewood Derby, conservation projects, cooking and pioneering demonstrations.

Walter Otto, Pacifica, Scout-O-Rama ticket chairman, says there will be over 40,000 people from San Mateo County who will visit the show during its two day run.

But he is donating his time to spread the word about the Peninsula Humane Society Fund, a campaign to raise $250,000 to construct a new home for all the unwanted animals in San Mateo County. Plans call for the overcrowded and outdated Coyote Point Shelter to be modernized and expanded to provide improved kennel facilities and additional space for humane education and wildlife care programs. The $250,000 campaign will supplement various grants and bequests to the Society that will provide the major part of the $2 million needed for expansion.

City Permit Fees Upped In San Bruno

The cost of processing applications for use permits, varjances and reclassification amendments in San Bruno is soon to be borne principally by each applicant.

Planning commissioners Monday night unanimously agreed to recommend to the city council (which had requested it) a revised fee schedule.

Under the new setup:

Architectural and site plan reviews will cost $15. San Bruno previously has not charged for this work.

Use permit fees will go from $25 to $75.

Variance fees will take the same $25 to $75 jump.

Reclassifications will go from a fee of $50 to $150.

Planning developments for sites less than one acre in size will cost $200. And for planned developments of one acre of more, where architectural services are required, the fee will be $500. The council recently approved of the $300 architectural fee.

It was pointed out by City Planner Jack Mulqueeney that the apartments at Crystal Springs Terrace, as an example, cost the city upwards of $1,000 in staff time.

In other business, the commissioners instructed Mulqueeney to investigate the status of Leisure Wheels, a sport van rental service on El Camino Real.

Commissioner Leon Miller indicated the firm may be in violation of its use permit. He said it has expanded to include nearby service station property, and allegedly tore down a building, all without necessary permits.

The commissoners also asked the commission's land use committee to study zoning of a parcel of land in Portola Highlands off Sneath Lane previously owned by the state and sold to a private party.

The question arose as to whether it should be zoned from neighborhood commercial to residential. Commissioner Miller said he would like to see the remainder of the state-owned property zoned open space.

The city presently is in litigation over other state-owned property in Crestmoor Canyon it rezoned into open space.

A parcel map for The Place Apartments was approved by the commissioners.

"constructive analysis" of what is actualy being planned for the area. Further, Spears charged the city with "tailoring (the project) to fit the needs of the rich."

One question that was asked by several persons appearing at the meeting held in the main gym of the War Memorial Building in the heart of the proposed redevelopment area was: What happens to the low income families dislocated by redevelopment?

Rowe and outgoing staff planner Fred De Jarlais have explained in the past that relocation allowances and assistance must be incorporated in any redevelopment venture to comply with laws in such cases.

But Albert Jenkins, a former menber of the citizens advisory committee, said that after months of study it was his conclusion that "the best hope for people near the (BART) station was for the Redevelopment Agency area (to come in)."

"Rapid transit will not go away—too much money and too much concrete has been poured into it," he said.

Instead of condemning the city for pushing redevelopment, Jenkin hit out at what he called "failure to act on the problems, failure to move ahead with this project."

The Planning Commission scheduled another meeting on the matter for April 26. Time and place of the upcoming hearing has not been set.

After hearing from its staff and studying reports made during the Tuesday meeting, the Commission is expected to either adopt or reject the proposal.

Robbery Charges Set

Charges of armed robbery, involving holdups in two north Peninsula cities will face a trio in Northern Judicial District court Friday.

A preliminay hearing has already been set for Friday for Michael Grant, 23, San Francisco and Carl Dietrich, 26, Petaluma, who were arrested at the end of a high-speed automobile chase March 25, throughout the northern Peninsula. They are charged with having held up and robbed a clerk and a customer at D&M Liquors at 429 Grand Avenue, in South San Francisco, the night of the chase.

In addition, Grant and a third member of the trio, a 17-year-old youth giving his address only as Hollywood, have been identified by the victim of another armed robbery two days previously, of the 7-Eleven Store on Skyline Boulevard in Pacifica. Charges for this offense are now being prepared by the district attorney's office.

The 17-year-old had been sent to Hillcrest. However, last Thursday, he appeared at a detention hearing there and was found unfit for juvenile court. He is due to appear in Northern District court yesterday, at which time the district attorney's office planned to add his name to the robbery charges.

Yachting Season Set For Sunday Opening

San Mateo County's yachting season officially opens Sunday with a full day of events at the Redwood City Municipal Marina, sponsored by the Sequoia Yacht Club, assisted by the San Mateo County Convention & Visitors Bureau.

Highlighting the day's activities will be a decorated boat parade and competition between members of all the county yacht clubs — Coyote Point Yacht clubs, San Mateo; Island Sailing Club, Foster City; Oyster Point Yacht Club, San Francisco; Peninsula and Sequoia Yacht Clubs, Redwood City. Judges for the event will be Williamm Zappettini, Jr., President of the Convention Bureau; James E. Jones, Convention Bureau Executive Director; and Rolland Wise, Commodore of San Mateo County Sea Scouts.

Theme for the boat decorations is "Discover San Mateo County," and the Bureau will award trophies to winners in each of four categories: large sailboat (over 20 feet), small sailboat (under 20 feet), powerboat, and best decorated boat by a junior (17 years and under).

Various other events and demonstrations are planned for the day, including a rescue demonstration by the San Mateo County Sheriff's Reserve Rescue Team. This unit is unique to San Mateo County and has received national acclaim for its rescue efforts.

There will be a sailboat race between youngsters in Sequoia Yacht Club's Junior Sailing Training Program, in eight-foot long single sail El Toros. This program is open to children in the community over 10 years of age.

County Sea Scout troops from South San Francisco, San Mateo, Belmont, Redwood City and Palo Alto will be competing in several events, including a half-mile canoe race, hoisting the scuttlebutt (hoisting a 55-gallon barrel of water three feet off the ground), and a precision rowing drill in 26-foot whale boats.

(Second in a Series)

JAMES CRANNA

JAMES CRANNA

James Cranna is an incumbent on the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees. He was elected to the post vacated by attorney William Schumacher last year.

He is married and the father of two children, both of whom attended and graduated from the Jefferson school district. Cranna served in the U.S. Navy during World War Two, ran his own wholesale grocery business, and is now in real estate. He has been a resident of Daly City for the past 17 years.

"As an incumbent trustee I will stand on the record of my last year's performance," he said. "I have examined each issue thoroughly and withheld my decision until all the evidence was in before casting my vote. If re-elected I intend to maintain my independence of thought and to contribute those thoughts to my fellow trustees.

"I will continue to support the majority decisions of the board after the vote is taken, whether I am on the majority or minority side of the question," Cranna said.

"We have facing us many changes in connection with the passage of SB-90, the Moretti-Reagan Refund Package. This tax reform bill has many staggering implications, many of which are now known at the present time.

"This, coupled with a cutback in federal funding on many of our programs, will give the Board many problems to solve," he said.

Cranna said the experience he has acquired as a Personnel Commissioner for the JESD and as a trustee will be useful in solving many problems.

MRS. JEANNE KENNAUGH

Mrs. Jeanne Kennaugh is a challenger hoping to win a post on the JESD by unseating one of the incumbents. She is the wife of William Kennaugh, a Certified Public Accountant in San Francisco and president of the Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association.

She has been on the JESD Personnel Commission for the past five and a half years; is association chairman of the Daly City Girl Scouts; a member of the San Francisco Bay Girl Scouts Council board of directors; charter president of the School Personnel Commissioners Association; past president of the California School Personnel Commissioners Association; Legislative chairman of the Calif. School Personnel Commissioners Association.

Also a member of the North Peninsula Circle of Florence Crittenton Homes; chairman of KQED Auction; member Skyline College Advisory Committee; member Friends of the Library; and member Franklin D. Roosevelt and Fernando Rivera P-TA.

"My community involvement has given me an excellent overview of the needs, concerns, and opinions of the entire community; plus demonstrates that I can work cooperatively and effectively with people of widely divergent points of view. In many of the organizations I have succeeded in unifying previously opposing forces," she said.

"Being a JESD Personnel Commissioner has given me an insight into the pressing needs of the district and an awareness of the key issues that will face board members in the next years — such as the implementation of the tax reform bill SB90, of the Stull Bill, and of the new innovations from the State Superintendent, as well as the need to meet intelligently the question of collective bargaining.

"As a taxpayer and mother, I am intensely concerned with the dissension among board members and the effect it will have on the children and on the community as a whole," she said. "An atmosphere of cooperation and trust is needed to meet the challenges that will face the school board in the next few years and to insure that the best possible education for the money is made available to the children. I will strive to develop such an atmosphere among board members, administrators, teachers and the public," she said.

Chief Joins in Bruno Protest

By BOB PETERSON

San Bruno Police Chief Russell Cunningham has joined his troops in their fight to have first option to fill a captaincy from within the ranks.

His is the first name to appear with a long list of signatures of Police Association officers on a petition requesting the city council to reconsider its decision to hold an open competitive examination.

The petition said in part: "Such a policy (to go outside) not only impedes career development but threatens the future stability and morale of police department employes." Some officers say that morale already is deteriorating because of the decision.

"I feel that it should definitely be a closed examination," said Chief Cunningham. "And then if no one passed, it should be opened further." The chief says there are nine men in the department eligible for the examination. Scuttlebutt within the department has it that some are so peeved with the council decision they won't even take the test.

"It is quite well known that some people in police work take many examinations merely for the experience. They are almost professional exam takers," said Cunningham. He added that there are only two major exam suppliers throughout the state.

"Someone who takes three or four tests (for captain or any other position) is almost sure to be familiar with all the questions. If they (the council) wanted to open it to the outside a reasonable period of planning should have gone into it," said the chief. He said he was never consulted as to the caliber, quality, or potential of his men.

Criticism of the decision is also seeping in from outside the department. One letter, addressed to City Manager Gerald Minford, even came from a San Mateo resident. He was Walter F. Swope, a former California Highway Patrol officer and one-time chief of police of Millbrae.

"At first blush, this move appears to be a step forward to upgrade the police profession but then there are grave second thoughts," says Swope's letter in part.

"Isn't it logical that any new member of the department, whether he be a patrolman, sergeant, lieutenant, captain or chief, coming from outside to within, must start as a 'rookie' since the 'outsider' has much catching up to do before becoming familiar with the rules, regulations, and procedures of the existing police department?"

Woman, 26, Must Face Murder Rap

A 26-year-old South San Francisco woman, Sandra Johnson, was held to answer on a charge of murder, by South San Francisco Municipal Judge Charles Becker, Wednesday.

Mrs. Johnson is now due to appear in Superior Court April 16, on the charges, which include furnishing of a narcotic, possession of narcotics, possession of marijuana and possession of marijuana paraphernalia.

Her husband, Gary Earl Johnson, 30, was held to answer on charges of possession of narcotics and possession of narcotic paraphernalia. He is free on $5000 bail.

Mrs. Johnson is alleged to have caused the death of Michael Raczynski, 24, 309 DeNardi Way, South San Francisco, on Thanksgiving Day, by furnishing him with a narcotic which he took, in a local bar.

Among those testifying for the prosecution were South San Francisco Detectives Doug McCool and Peter Rhodes, as well as McClellan Paterson, painting contractor who employed the victim, and in whose guest room he was found dead on Thanksgiving morning.

Deadline on Court Plan

A May 7 deadline was established by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Tuesday for submission of a plan for a holding facility for prisoners facing court action in the Northern District Municipal Court at South San Francisco.

County Manager M. D. Tarshes, confronted before the board by Harlan Minshew, chairman of the North County Corrections Facility Committee, admitted that he had not been able to meet the January deadline for submission to the board of a capital improvement program which would include the facility, deemed by the committee as a necessity to assure security at the court building.

Tarshes noted that he and his staff have been devoting "as close to 100 per cent of our time as possible to budget work."

Hopefully, he said, this will be completed by mid-April and permit time for additional work on the capital improvement program, including the holding facility.

"The capital improvement program has top priority as soon as the regular budget schedule is completed," the county manager stated.

He noted that the restrictions imposed by tax limiting Senate Bill 90 have posed problems necessitating an unusual budget schedule.

Tarshes, in reply to Supervisor William H. Royer's request for a "date" on the holding facility proposal, said that it will be late April or early May before the reommendation can be prepared.

Tarshes said that Supervisor Jean Fassler's suggestion for a May 7 deadline is "a realistic deadline" which "we will make every effort to meet."

D.C. School Candidates Debate Campaign Issues

Five candidates for the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees told why they should be elected last week during a poorly attended "Candidate's Night" at Daly City's George Washington Elementary School.

Candidate Mrs. Carrol Jeanne Kennaugh criticized what she termed "bickering and squabbling" between board members at recent meetings. "As a taxpaying mother I am concerned with developing a sense of cooperation between board members and the community," she said.

Mrs. Kennaugn cited the need for cooperation between board members and said, "I think I am aware of the problems in the district and I can work cooperatively with all elements in the community.

Board member Mrs. Dorothy Adams said that since she is an incumbent she assumed she was being accused of being a "bickerer" but added that when she sees problems in the district, "I will not only bicker. I will kick my heels as well."

"I will not be quiet and I will not be peaceful until each and every child in this district gets his or her fair share," Mrs. Adams added.

Incumbent Board Chairman Albert Collett described Jefferson Elementary School District as "'a good district" and asked parents attending Candidate's Night to "search the state of California anl try to find a district with similar finances, (to the Daly City District), that provides a program similar to the one we offer our children."

Incumbent Collett said, "I am proud of the small part I have played in the progress of the district."

Candidate David Parker addressed his remarks to what he termed "a regretable incident that happened at this school."

Parker's remarks were directed at the recent board hearing on charges that George Washington Elementary School Principal, Dr. William L. Fowler, allegedly stripped one boy and beat other children at his school.

The charges were subsequently dropped by the board in a 3-2 vote, but Parker said the board had made a "very very poor decision to have the hearing conducted in public."

Parker added that there was "no reason" for Dr. Fowler having to answer the allegations in public

Fire Sweeps S.S.F. Home

Fire struck a home in the Westborough section of South San Francisco Wednesday afternoon, at 2465 Donegal Avenue, inflicting "several thousand dollars" worth of damage.

Firemen arriving at the home found the garage enveloped in flames, but managed to keep the fire from damaging the home severely.

According to the South San Francisco fire department, the fire was apparently caused by some article being left atop the dryer in the garage, then falling behind the dryer, blazing, and the flame then going up the wall into the attic area.

Homeowner Marlin J. Sampson arrived on the scene shortly after firemen did, and assisted an elderly male relative who had been watching television, out of the home.

The garage was empty, except for an undetermined amount of articles stored in a loft above the garage. The fire extended into a portion of the kitchen and part of the lower roof of the building.

San Brunan Found Dead

An elderly San Bruno man, reportedly despondent over the state of world affairs, fashioned a noose from nylon cording and electrical tape and hung himself from a basement rafter at this San Joaquin Court home on Sunday.

The body of Andrea Joseph Micheletti, 66, was found by his daughter in the basement of their home shortly before 10 p.m.

County Seeks Rest Of Bruno Property

An application by the county for acquisition of the 86-acre Coast Guard property in San Bruno which has been declared surplus was authorized March 27 by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

In its application, the county notes that the city of San Bruno has requested slightly over 1½ acres on which two city water tanks are located, and that the San Mateo Community College District wants 12 acres at the north end of the property in order to expand the parking lot at Skyline College.

The application proposes that the remaining 72 acres be conveyed to the county at no cost for open space purposes.

County Parks and recreation Director John Brook is proposing the development of bicycle, hiking and equestrian trails for the preservation of the ridge line and several outstanding vista points.

Although the State Division of Highways is requesting 18 acres in the southerly portion of the property for eventual extension of Highway 380, the county's application requests that title to the property be conveyed to the county, with the understanding that if the court order against construction of the freeway is ever lifted the county can greant the necessary right-of-way.

As an alternative, the county is proposing that the 18-acre area be withheld from any grant pending resolution of the legal aspects of the freeway.

In his report concerning acquisition of the property, County Manager M. D. Tarshes notes that the state presently is considering several different designs for the freeway extension — one of which would create a 70-foot open cut on the property, and another which would be cut and cover double tunnel wherin the surface would be restored.

FOUR PERSONS WERE injured in this three-car wreck on the San Francisco Airport frontage road Wednesday, 11:30 p.m., just north of Millbrae. The car of Chris Johnson, 18, 423 Beech Avenue, South San Francisco, was on the wrong side of the two-lane road and collided head-on with the cars of Harry Williams, 184 Forty-second Avenue, South San Francisco, and Ray Brown, 1764 Hamlet Street, San Mateo, said police. Injured were Johnson, two of his passengers, Peter May, 17, 435 Beech Avenue, and Eugene Cresent, 17, 851 Larch Avenue, both of South San Francisco, and Ray Brown. All four were rushed to Peninsula Hospital for treatment of lacerations, bumps and bruises.

Brisbane Recall Bid

A recall movement is under way in Brisbane today against three councilmen, including mayor William Lawrence and councilmen Jess Salmon and Julius Stern.

Stern, a well known Bay Area labor leader, is accused of favoring "outside" businesses and labor while ignoring his city's interests.

He is charged by petitioners with stating last year that he would not blame teamster union members if they did not make city deliveries if quarry trucks were banned from city streets during a dispute between Brisbane and the quarry.

EIR Seen as Future Saver

Cost of developing housing projects and business buildings in Pacifica will rise as a result of new guidelines for environmental impact reports adopted by the City Council.

However, according to Planner Jim Miller, long-range costs—particularly to the buyer and community —will go down.

Councilmen Monday adopted an EIR format, prepared by Miller from state-issued guidelines, showing how and when such reports should be made up.

In addition, councilmen gave their approval to a proposal by Miller to hire a consultant to prepare such reports, after Miller, and his superior, Les Clark, director of community development, assured the council that it can be worked so that the developers would have to pick up the additional costs.

The alternative, Miller warned, would be to hire sufficient staff to prepare proper environmental impact reports, at a cost of $50,000 to $70,000 a year.

Although the councilmen approved the concept, they asked Miller to bring a sample contract to be made with the city consultant.

Councilmen also approved — in effect — having an environmental impact study made of the entire city. Such a study would save both time and money for each developer who has to have an EIR made.

Miller explained that the EIR consultants told him that a typical environmental impact report, done in conformance with state guidelines, would cost $5,000 to $10,000. However, from 50 to 90 per cent of the material that goes into an EIR is basic data which must be gathered for each individual EIR. Thus, by creating an "environmental inventory" both the time and cost to prepare such EIRs could be greatly reduced.

Under state guidelines, the EIR must include a description of the environment, any adverse effects on the environment because of the project, mitigation measures which would minimize the impact, alternatives to the proposed action, and any irreversible environmental change. Other elements include water quality, impact upon schools and other local services, soils, seismological and geological conditions. When completed, such a report can be the size of a small book.

Miller explained that under his proposal, the builder can have the report done himself, or use the city's consultant. In either case, the city's consultant must put it in final form.

Councilman Stan Farber stressed that he wanted to make sure that the builder would understand that after spending several thousand dollars for the report, the report could still be unfavorable to him.

Mayor Grace McCarthy commented that the "cost has escalated beyond the intention of the Legislature . . . It's not our doing!"

Mrs. Virginia Jaeger of Mina Lane asked if the new guidlines make the EIRs any more than "just informative documents."

Mrs. McCarthy replied that "we cannot expand it."

"That's a lot of money to spend for just an informative document." Mrs. Jaeger commented.

Miller later explained to this reporter that although it appeared that the EIR was going to escalate the cost of homebuilding, actually it would save a good deal of money in the long run. Much grief would be saved by not having homes built in unsuitable locations or on unstable ground, in not losing open space completely, in not having a development cost the city more than it would yield in taxes, and in not having schools unexpectedly swamped by new children.

Driver Survives Cliff Plunge

A young woman whose car careened off Highway 1 in Pacifica Sunday plunged down a steep embankment and smashed into an auto repair shop was reported in good condition today at Mary's Help Hospital.

"It's a miracle she's even alive," a Pacifica fire captain said.

The car was demolished.

Rescuers found the woman lying some 50 feet from the wreckage. The car's engine was hurled 25 feet after impact with the roof and side of the Parkside garage on Palmetto Avenue.

According to Highway Patrol reports, Gloria G. Garcia, 33, of Pacifica, was southbound on Highway 1 near the Palmetto Avenue off-ramp when her car left the freeway and smashed into the garage.

Terra Nova Topics

By DENISE BARR

Students unable to deposit trash in the many nearby garbage cans, have grought a major problem to all of Terra Nova.

The garbage problem is so bad that the area behind the school used as an unofficial smoking lot was recently declared a restricted area during first lunch for one week.

Some students were getting "kicks" out of throwing dirt clods into our pool. During one Physical Education class, a girl got hit in the head with someone's box lunch trash.

The teachers and administration of TN have asked the Executive Board to try to do something about the problem.

The adminstration is worried as to what these trashy students might do when carpeting is put down throughout the school and the new additions are completed. It will be a whole new Terra Nova, and we would like to keep it looking new and very nice.

As a first step, the Board is going to paint the garbage cans. Maybe if students are forced to see a bright trash can, they might be compelled to throw something into it. The Board might also put up posters encouraging proper placement of trash.

If the students can't show proper respect for their school, it might result in the "smoking lot" being closed permanently during both lunches, or loss of carpeting in the present rooms. Terra Nova is known as one of the nicer schools in this district. Too bad some of the students are not a nice class of people.

A LOT OF HOPEFUL plans are being formed for the Spring Fair to be held May 4, 1-8:30 p.m.

Pat Finefrock, advisor of student activities, introduced the idea and it was accepted with enthusiasm.

The theme of the fair is the Renaissance Period. Persons attending the fair are encouraged to dress in Renaissance period costumes. Clubs, classes, and individuals are going to sponsor booths. Among the booths, the senior class is conducting a cake-walk, another class might have a dunking machine, and students are making jewelery, clothes, and artwork to sell.

There will be many booths offering a variety of things.

DESPITE the slow start of ticket sales, the 1973 Junior Prom was declared a success. "Dancing in the Moonlight" was held at the Airport Marina with a steak dinner included in the $25 price.

Weekend Session On Adolescents

High school educators, students, parents and other interested persons are being invited to a weekend workshop April 27-29 at College of San Mateo on enriching the educational experience of adolescents in San Mateo County.

The event, scheduled to open late Friday afternoon and adjourn at noon on Sunday, is co-sponsored by the college's Psychological Services Center and the Educational Innovation Project of the Center for Studies of the Person in La Jolla.

Serramonte High-lites

Serramonte High School's Music Department recently added to its list of honors by having many high ratings at the Solo-Ensemble Festival hosted by San Carlos High School and sponsored by the California Music Educators Association.

Serramonte High's performers received three Command Performance ratings, ten Superior ratings, six Excellent ratings, and one Good rating. Command Performance ratings were attained by a vocal trio of Madrigal Singers consisting of Margaret Hetzer, Nancy Luders, and Ann Kramer; a cello solo by Ann Eliachar; and a flute solo by Pam McNeil. The Command Performance rating is the highest possible and means that the students are asked to play a second time when they are featured as the best of the day.

SERRAMONTE'S solo performances were two each on the piano and flute, and one as follows: two woodwind trios, net, cello, oboe, and violin and one solo vocal performance. Ensembles participating were as follows: two woodwin trios, a string trio, a string-flute trio, a vocal trio, a woodwind quartet, a brass quartet, a saxophone quartet, a flute quintet, and a flute-string septet.

Music students participating in this event were Nancy Luders, Margaret Hetzer, Ann Kramer, Dan Pava, Shawn Whiteman, Lynne McNeil, John Pereira, Paul Zawilski, Lina Olier, Marsha Aronovsky, Diane Bashaw, Larry Chinelli, Warren Dale, Bob Garay, Eric Johnson, Van Johnson, Dave Kaplan, Lori Kaplan, Martina Karapiet, Dan Martinelli, Julie McKenzie, Pam McNeil, Jennifer McNeil, Barbara Nagle, Annie Periera, Kathy Rasmussen, Carol Richwood, Steve Winters, Peter Zawilski, Ann Eliachar, Dede Taber.

ANOTHER Serramonte High award winner is Ken Johnson who won the Lion's Club zone speech event held recently at the Skyliner Restaurant.

SERRAMONTE High students are looking forward to the appearance of the Navy Band on their campus April 11. The band was a great hit the last time it appeared, so this repeat performance is much anticipated.

THE CAST of Serramonte High School's drama production "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" is really going around in circles these days.

They arise and run the track at the school each morning at 6 to get themselves in proper physical condition to give the very best performances.

SERRAMONTE High School is preparing a very big evening for all parents and friends during Public Schools Week. Open House will be held on April 25 during the hours of 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Displays and special features are being prepared by every department of the school and all the faculty members will be on hand to greet visitors and answer questions.

Some of the special features of the evening will be an even larger and more spectacular display by the Industrial Arts Department; an extensive Fine Arts presentation featuring art formance, and drama previews works, music ensemble performance of "You're a Good man, Charlie Brown"; Science and Mathematics equipment and special project displays; and two special presentations by the girl's PE department which will include Swedish gymnastics, regular gymnastics and folk dancing.

Scholarship Competition At Serramonte

Students from area high schools, and individuals from San Francisco high schools will compete for Serramonte Center's art sholarship April 7.

The students will be competing for the $500 first place scholarship, second and third place trophies, and 25 honorable mention awards.

A perpetual trophy award will be awarded to a school for participation. Last year this award was won by Crestmoor High School.

Schools participating in this year's competition are Serramonte High, El Camino High, Crestmoor High, and a number of individuals from Bay Area high schools.

Work in the competition is limited to painting and drawing. The entries will be displayed at Serramonte on Saturday and Sunday. Judging will be on Friday, and winners will be announced Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Serramonte fountain.

The Holy Angels Women's Guild will meet at 8 p.m. today in the parish hall, according to Mrs. John Lagomarsino, publicity chairman.

Mrs. Conrad Reich, president of the Guild, has issued an invitation to the women of the parish to attend. A games party will follow.

During the business meeting, the ticket chairman for the parish's creative fashion show, Something Old, Something New, will report on the reservations for the luncheon and fashion show which will be held on Saturday.

Early indications are that there will be a substantial number of guests dining on chicken turnovers, sweet peas, salad, rolls, pastry and sipping coffee as the ladies of the parish exhibit their fashion expertise.

An added attraction will be the modeling of antique gown from Coleman's Curiosity Shop in San Carlos.

Mrs. Robert Dal Porto and Mrs. Les O'Callaghan are in charge of the show.

It'S BACK TO SCHOOL tomorrow for the members of Pacifica's Fifty Plus Club, according to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan.

Seniors from the coastside area will be the guests of honor at a luncheon program to be held on the College of San Mateo campus.

Mrs. Calhan reports that this is the third such visit the club members have made to the campus and each of the previous trips has been an exceptionally rewarding experience. Members are being urged to take advantage of this opportunity to view the campus and meet and talk with today's college students.

MEMBERS OF THE North Peninsula Auxiliary of the Florence Crittenton Home executive board will meet this morning in the San Francisco home of Mrs. Dorothy Vuksich.

One of the happiest moments of the morning will be the report on the very successful membership drive which has just been concluded. Also to be discussed are plans for a home tour, a luncheon auction and a summer swim party.

FRIENDS OUTSIDE has a special need for twin beds, sheets, towels and miscellaneous household items to assist a family in need, according to Mrs. Rudy Enberg, director of the local chapter.

With the approach of summer there is a need to locate unneeded sleeping bags, flashlights, jeans, swimming suits and toothpaste for the youngsters Friends Outside hopes to be able to send to summer camp. If you can help, call the office, 661-6900.

CAN YOU BELIEVE it is almost time for the Fuchsia Ball? Well, according to word from the Mary's Help Hospital Guild, it is just around the corner or, just one page away on your calendar!

Mrs. Agnes Okerstrom, editor of the guild's newsletter, notes that the date selected for the ball this year is May 5. Save that date!

New names on the guild roster mean new helpers on the fund raising efforts and the latest quintet to affix their names to the roll are Mrs. Nancy Bullis, Frances Cavanagh, Mrs. Ellen Keane, Yvonne Naber and Mrs. Dorothy Pursley.

AN AFTERNOON DANCE is being planned by the members of the Holy Angels Latin club for Sunday, April 29 at 3 p.m. in the Parish hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Nemer Gonzalez are the general chairmen of the festive event which will feature live music, games and prizes and lots and lots of traditional Spanish and Mexican food.

The event, which is being staged to raise money for the Holy Angels parish school, is being designed for the entire family to enjoy and board members are hopeful that many families will join in the fun.

A special invitation is being extended to the school's alumni to make this an occasion for an unofficial reunion with old friends and classmates. Parents of former students may also wish to attend and make this an afternoon for renewing old acquaintances.

Tickets are now on sale and a call to 992-3591 will reserve individual tickets or blocks of tickets for groups which may wish to come as a unit. Price for admission will be $1.50 per person, regardless of age.

Antiques Show at 'Palace'

More than 100 leading antique dealers from throughout California are participating in the San Francisco Bay Area Antiques Show and Sale which opens today for five days at the Cow Palace.

Dorothy Emerson, producer, said overall value of the hundreds of antiques and collectables to be displayed for sale is "in excess of $1 million."

This show, she added, will be one of the largest ever assembled under one roof in the Bay Area.

A wide range of choice American, English, Continental and Oriental antiques and art objects is to be exhibited by the dealers, including furniture, pottery, silverware, crystal, clocks, porcelain and paintings.

"The growing interest in antiques on the part of Americans is truly phenomenal. Mrs. Emerson pointed out, "for not only are these fine crafted articles proving to be functional within the home, their value as investments has a strong appeal for everyone, including young adults."

Doors at the Cow Palace will open Wednesday through Saturday from 1 to 10 p.m., and from noon to 6 p.m. on the last day, Sunday.

Tickets at $2 will be on sale at the Cow Palace — children under 12 are admitted free.

Award Presented By Merchants To Hospital Unit

Jim Beale, president of the Serramonte Merchants Association, presented an award for excellence in community service to Mrs. Milly Dunow, president of Mary's Help Hospital Guild.

During the past two years, the Mary's Help Guild members have co-sponsored Mary's Help Day with the Serramonte Center Merchants. Mary's Help Day on the Mall is highlighted with a fashion show, luncheon, and gifts donated by the Serramonte Merchants.

During Mary's Help Day, the uniformed Guild members become hostesses in Serramonte's stores. Booths on the mall display new hospital equipment, and hospital personnel are on hand to talk about nursing careers.

Funds go to Mary's Help Hospital to purchase equipment.

The Northern California Promotion Manager's Association presented the award to Serramonte Center for this community service event, and Serramonte Center in turn presented it to the Mary's Help Guild.

GIRL SCOUTING

JOURNEY TO awareness tours of the Black Man's Art Gallery, the New Manilla Importing Company, and Galeria de la Raza will be featured segments of the program designed to acquaint leaders with some cultures involved in Scouting.

With an emphasis upon diversity bringing sounder values to all Scouting, the tour, scheduled for Friday, April 6 is open to all adult and senior Scouts.

NANCY LUDERS, chairwoman of Daly City Senor Scout Panrama Troop No. 24 is the second senior troop girl leader to win this coveted award. Last year Carolyn Manbert was so honored for her achievements in the business spectrum.

ASSOCIATION MEETING April 10 speaker will discuss a new approach to the Girl Scout promise and law, recently revised by the fall Dallas convention delegates, at the War Memorial Coral Room from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Coffee will be served under the auspices of Mesdames Alan Kox and Fred Stewart from 7:30, with the business meeting starting at 8 p.m. New leaders are urged to attend early to discuss bridging and spring ceremonies.

All members are invited to attend according to Mrs. Margaret Connolly, chairwoman, who has arranged for every leader to be contacted by phone and individual liaison.

CAROL KLATT, Carole Scott and Grace Winters will judge the program aide qualifiers at the test to be given Saturday April 7 at Junipera Serra Park from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Girls must submit a list of qualifications to Mrs. Klatt previous to their acceptance to test. Ability to cooperate with adults, build fires, string wash lines, cook outdoors, set up dishwashing units, prepare units for occupancy and help girls determine colors ceremonies will be the basic skills tests.

A new aide-in-training program is also announced this year, according to Mrs. Klatt. The revised standards will help adults determine which girls are ideally suited to aide units.

GIRL SCOUT thinking day celebrations in the North County included contributions of $40.50 to the Juliet Lowe World Friendship Fund in the form of nickles and dimes from girls, according to Special Events Chairwoman Mrs. Barbara Rushton.

MRS. LOUISE COURPET will serve as temporary registrar pending the moving of Mrs. Virginia Tufts, until the local N & R Committee submits a new appointee to the Association Chairwoman. Mrs. Courpet, who also presently serves as membership chairwoman, has agreed to tend the position temporarily.

SPORTS DAY winners will be announced next week according to the Daly City Girl Scout Association service team March 31, at Ben Franklin School, by Scouting levels, i.e. Brownies against Brownies and Juniors against Juniors, with Cadettes providing supervision with adults.

Phil Davis, the day's recreation director and Debbie Bridgeman, a local college student, were commended by all Scouts present in this annual athletic event.

The Pageant, to be held April 28 at Terra Nova High School will end with the crowning of Miss Pacifica 1973.

Pacifica Recreation Summaries

The 7th and 8th Grade Soccer League, co-sponsored by the Pacifica Parks, Beaches, and Recreation Department and Laguna Salada School District, completed the fifth round of action, with Cabrillo and Ortega Schools taking commanding leads in the 8th and 7th, respectively.

Rick Kome scored 2 goals and teammates Larry Campos and Bill Gridley scored 1 goal apiece as Cabrillo whipped Pacific Heights 4-1.

A second half goal by Tom Davis provided the margin of victory as Cabrillo edged Sharp Park 1-0.

In the "battle of defense", Sharp Park came out on top with a second period goal of Keith Keneally as Sharp Park shut put Fairmont 1-0.

In the battle of "first place" saw Bill Demarie put on a "one man offensive show as he scored 4 goals and teammate Tony Gil scored 1 goal as Ortega whipped Cabrillo 5-1.

D.C. All-Stars Outshoot The Gunners

The All-Stars out shot the Gunners, 57-49, at the War Memorial Community Centr as they tightened the Daly City Recreation High School League race. The All-Stars moved into a tie for first with OLM, Numero Uno, and the Gunners. Each team has lost only once.

Twenty-five points from the hot hand of Lou Gomez and the excellent all around play of Andre Wilder (20), moved the All-Stars to a 14 point lead at half-time. Ted Scott furnished second half fire power with 16 as the Gunners drew to within 8. Scott finished with 19.

In further action at the War Memorial the Indians from Jeff screamed past the Wildcats 42-33. Alex Cabobongan paced the Indians' scoring attack with 20. Rich Sweeney tossed in 14 for the Wildcats. The Grabbers, utilized a balanced scoring attack to out last the Bruins 26-16.

In play at Jefferson High first place Numero Uno blasted the under-manned Wild Bunch 50-34 as Terry Mahoney and Mike Hurley combined fine scoring and rebounding to lead "Uno" to victory. Mahoney finished with game high, 17, while Hurley added 8. Dennis McCarthy tossed in 10 for the "Bunch."

OLM remained tied for first as they galloped past the Snuffin' Hackers 56-31. Doug Sheehan displayed good scoring (14) and rebounding talent for the Hackers in a losing cause.

Red Shield Team Still Undefeated

After two weeks of fierce competition, the late winter three man hunch leagues look like they might steal the excitement from the early winter leagues. In the open division only the Red Shield team remains undefeated after just two weeks of play. The Red Shield proved too much for the Superflys as they constantly batted away the flys with a tenacious defense.

The leading swatters were Earl Ridgeway and Frank Mazion with 16 points each and outstanding for the Superflys was Larry Norton who buzzed around the hoop for 10 points.

In a later game the Hawks evened their record with a hard fought 47-42 overtime victory over the Top Three Echelon. Frank Oross flew to the hoop for 22 points for the Hawks while Dennis Jewe continued his high scoring with 20 points for the Top three Echelon.

The Leapin Lizards never got a chance to leap for the Sportmen failed to show up, thus resulting in a 2-0 Lizard win by forfeit.

The Grasshoppers barely escaped extinction as the Juggernauts attacked them but held on to win an overtime 46-42 verdict in the Sixth Foot and Under League. Leading popper for the Hoppers was Gary Thompson with 27 points, whereas Rich Shaffer pumped through 16 points for the Juggernauts.

The Six Footers used a balanced and strategical attack to subdue the fighting San Bruno Marines 40-19. John Anderson managed to sneak through the Six Footer lines for 8 points for the Marines.

The No Names are making a name for themselves as they won their second consecutive game 40-15 over the Leapin Lizards. The Lizards were grounded as Dennis Essex Single handedly, destroyed their hopes with 22 points for the No-Names.

"Get Carter" was the chant of the Warriors as they fell in defeat at the hands of the Go To The Hoopers by the score of 40-22. Don Carter went shooting to the hoop for 16 points for the Hoopers as he and his teammates played an outstanding game. The Warriors were again lead in scoring by Rory Faiola with 10 counters.

Portola and John Muir Top Leagues

Portola and John Muir lead their respective divisions in the San Bruno Recreation Dept. Playground Soccer League.

Western Division Leader, Portola had an easy time with Crestmoor, as compared to Eastern Division Leader, John Muir, which barely got by Belle Air.

The Portola-Crestmoor clash was over before it started, as the Hilltopper's Steve Thomas pushed through 2 goals in the first five minutes of play to lead Portola to a 5-1 rout. Ron Haas, Tony Kerlegan and John Brown all scored later in the game against the weak Crestmoor defense. Assisting on the goals were Peter Susnow and Jeff Cory. Portola Coach Vince Fernandez cited unselfish passing and superior team work as the keys to their two league victories. Crestmoor had little to cheer about except Mike Gaines' goal and when Portola put in their substitutes.

The other Western Division contest saw defending city champs Monte Verde crush Rollingwood, 6-0. Aggressive offensive penetration was the Devil's key as six different olayers found the range. Scott Eger, Eddie Gibbson, Rob Katish, Paul Galaish, Tracy Protrosa, and Danny Muchuncy were the Devil's who burnt the Rollingwood gaolies. Mark Smith's passing and ball handling set up wto of the Monte Verde goals.

Defensively it was all Mark Deminco. Playing in the fullback position, Mark allowed only one ball to get by him. For this outstanding individual performance, Mark was awarded "Player of the Week" in the Western Division. Rock Stone, Rollingwood's coach, was quoted as saying, "Kevin Record did an outstanding job as goalie despite the three goals that were scored on him. The goals were scored due to lack of Fullback coordination." Right wing Mich Passmore and inside left Jim Thompson were also singled out by Coach Stone, for their fine showing.

John Muir, led by center Bobby Knill and goalie Mark Griffin, edged out Belle Air 2-1, for the undisputed lead in the Eastern Division. Knill scored both goals, one unassisted and the other one assisted by left wing Victor Briffa. Griffin was fantastic in the nets, considering this was the first time he played that position in league play. Other top defensive and offensive contributors were right wing Jim Spingola, Dennis Chambliss, center halfback, Joe Martinez, Patrick Landrum, Kevin Sinclair, Noel Alven, Neal Alven, and Dale Alven.

For Belle Air, it was Dennis Davison scoring on a penalty kick, from 12 yds. out. Richard Smisek, Jose' Magrid, Leo Akulian and Roger Hogan were praised by their coach, Kevin Kelly, for their fine ball handling and their scrappy defensive play.

After a very physical, scoreless first half, El Crystal, on Ralph Black's 14-foot scoring shot came back in the second half to edge by the Decima Allen Roadrunners 1-0. The first half was all Decima Allen as Jeff Stone, Bruce Asher, Brian Kennedy, Nicky Gregoire, Blake Donato, Dan Martin and Jelly Skelly, kept the ball in El Crystal territory the whole 15 minutes. In the second half the momentum shifted to El Crystal, with Ralph Black, Jim Jones, Greg Berhmann, Lorraine Black, Donna Medefessen and Norbert Tenhortenarr, leading the charge. Decima Allen's goalie, Gary Goff and El Crystal's goalie John Sbragia, Both made countless saves which turned the game into a defensive coach's dream.

Hubbell Series Last of Carl

(Last in a series of columns on Carl Hubbell)

Even though he is director of the Giants' farm system, Carl Hubbell is reluctant to discuss prospects below the AAA level. He admits that, with this philosophy, he is giving in to the new breed of athlete.

"Kids — especially in the lower minors — are so sensitive nowadays, that if I start mentioning names and forget somebody, their feelings get hurt. Some rookie in Texas may hear from a buddy out on the coast that Hubbell mentioned all the top prospects, but left his name out, and the next thing you know, the kid in Texas is brooding and asking to be traded.

Hubbell will talk about members of the Phoenix roster, however, and his eyes seem to light up just a little more than for others when he mentions pitchers John D'Acquisto, a righthander, and southpaw Joe Riccelli, both of whom have the minor league reputation of striking out more batters than innings they pitch. Hubbell thinks they'll be ready in a year or two.

Both big — in the 6-2, 190-200 pound range — they have something additional going for them; at least as far as this writer is concerned. They are both of Italian descent.

(Note: As the column was written, D'Aquisto and Riccelli were being sent out for more experience.)

D'Aquisto is 21, Riccelli 20, and even if it takes two years for them to make it, they'll both be doing it at a green stage in their careers. Perhaps too green, Hubbell admits; very possibly not even genuinely ready for the big leagues. At least not by the definition of "ready" Hubbell and other veteran baseball men used before expansion came. But expansion has caused the "force-feeding" program now used by every major league team. As Hubbell reminds, "There's a lot more to making and staying in the majors than raw ability. Talent must be applied properly, and it takes time. It can't be done over-night. But we don't have the luxury, anymore, of bringing polished players onto the big roster. They must learn the hard way, while they're actually playing for championships in the big leagues."

(Author's note: For those of you who believed Channel 5's sports "expert" Barry Tompkins on one of his especially obnoxious reports recently, this should answer his charge that the Giants are noted for bringing youngsters up "too fast." They are, but so are all of the other teams. Perhaps Channel 5 brought Tompkins up too fast.)

ONE COMPROMISE in the force-feeding process which the Giants generally will make is in the case when a proven vet and a kid are battling it out at the same position on about even terms. Even though the kit may have more raw talent, the Giants will retain the vet and send the kid out for seasoning until his waivers last.

"We don't believe in pressing a kid," says Hubbell. "Some people have accused us, at times, of holding a kid back from advancement by sending him out as many times as waivers will allow. But we don't feel we're keeping a kid from developing when we do this. We feel we're helping him to develop by allowing him to learn his craft without being under the pessure of big league ball. Of course, we do this only if we're lucky enough to have a good vet in the kid's position."

Like many big league clubs, the Giants prefer signing prospects out of high school rather than college. Hubbell explains that there are few good college baseball schools where kids can learn the pro way, and as a consequence, unless the prospect has exceptional baseball sense and maturity, he comes out of college with a lot of bad habits, which are hard to break, and is perhaps already in his early 20's, old, these days, for a rookie pro. But, signed out of high school, a kid can be molded the pro way during his developing years. Even in the good college baseball schools, Hubbell adds, they just don't play enough games to gather the experience they could be accumulating in the pro ranks. Hubbell is quick to explain that the Giants aren't against higher education, in fact encourage it — during off-seasons.

DESPITE CONTINUING charges that the Giants concentrate too much on power, Hubbell insists that the first thing the Giants look for in non-pitchers is speed. "Speed is the most important element in any sport," Hubbell contends. Next priority is a strong arm, except in first and second basemen.

"It's a bonus if they can hit the long ball as well as run," says Hubbell, who also feels that speed is important at ALL positions. "Sure, the Giants are known as a power team. But examine our lineup. We have one of the fastest teams in baseball." (Note: The Giants were second in the major leagues last year in stolen bases.)

The Giants also look for more nebulous elements, like the quality of the prospect's home life, his character, desire, pride and competitiveness.

"If a kid has the right attitude . . . well, he doesn't have to have the best raw ability. He'll always figure out some way to beat the other team."

When the Giants sign a pitcher, they hope for a good all around athlete, but will settle for a kid with simply one good arm.

"There are a lot of pitchers in the majors today," reminds Hubbell, "who aren't good all around players, or even especially good athletes in the strict sense of the word. But they still win. That's what we look for, pitchers who can win, some way. If they can field their positions, bunt, hit, run the bases, they'll win several more games a year. But that kind of pitcher is a bonus."

ONE OF THE VERY ignorant charges Tompkins made against the Giants in that recent telecast (which happened long after we had interviewed Hubbell), was that the Giants develop outstanding young players and then trade them away. Most of the examples he used as having been traded were outfielders. What Tompkins never stopped to consider is the simple fact that no team can carry 15-20 outfielders on its roster.

The reason why the Giants sign so many outfielders has to do with the relatively new draft system. In pre-draft days, teams could draft for position. Now, they must draft the best players available, regardless of position. The premium positions, those which generally go high in the draft, are pitchers, and often catchers. Because there are so many outfielders, most of them are usually picked later.

Because the Giants almost always finish near the top, therefore, they almost always draft late, because the weak teams get the high draft choices. As a consequence the bulk of what is usually left of the real talent when the Giants get their picks is outfielders. So they pick the best athletes available, knowing that eventually they will trade their surplus in outfielders, probably for pitchers.

Check Giant rosters for the last decade, and you'll find that almost all their players have been homegrown. The usual exception is several pitchers, who were usually traded for outfielders.

BUT, OF COURSE, all of this is too subtle for sports experts like Tompkins, who also said that the Giants can never win with Charley Fox despite the fact that just two years ago they DID win with Fox, and he was voted National League Manager of the Year.

But then, this was to be the concluding piece on Carl Hubbell, a real baseball expert. Not a defense of the Giants against a television announcer who fancies himself an expert. Real pros don't need a defense.

Westlake Soccer Team Is Defeated

A fast paced game with the final result not reflecting the action fairly as the Westlakers played their opponents on even terms through most of the game.

After a freakish goal by the Golden Eagles, the ball angling in after bouncing against the upright, the Westlakers carried the attack to the Eagles with speedy forwards Cruz, Joshua and Lopez outspeeding the defesse.

But it was Louis Navarro, the centerhalf, making the score 1 to 1 as he put a short grounder past the Eagles' goalie. A defensive miscue, however, put the Westlakers in arrears once again. The Joshua went all the way only to miss his shot.

In the second half, the Westlakers' defense held up well under pressure, but the score against them mounted to 5 to 1 before Joshua, in the closing minute, broke free and made it 5 to 2 with a beautiful drive.

Outstanding for the Daly City team was fullback Norman Goldberg who cleared the ball first time again and again and broke up numerous plays with his anticipation. Harold Weiner, the other fullback, impressed with driving low clearances upfield. Halfbacks Ron Quiroz and Charles Lee worked extremely hard to put the fast Eagle forwards off their passing game. Louis Navarro at centerhalf made some fine midfield moves. Centerforward Ralph Joshua broke clear several times, but unfortunately persisted in delaying the playoff drive. Wingers Raul Lopez and Antonio Cruz had speed and dribbling skill, but they delayed in passing off and could not drive hard when they had the chance. Ron Robles at inside forward played his usual determined game, while Chris Lonner showed the effects of a long playoff

The Westlakers, now sporting a 5 and 3 win-loss record in the league, showed that they must be reckoned with as they battled the Golden Eagles without three of their regulars.

S. Bruno Plans Class to Teach Baseball Skills

The San Bruno Recreation Department is organizing a program to afford young men a chance to learn the basic skills and stratagies of baseball.

The program will be directed by a recreation leader competent in this area.

It was emphasized that participation will be the most important aspect of the program; there will be little if any competition in this program.

"We are hoping to introduce the participants to the game of baseball in a relaxed yet informative way; so that they may make the decision of whether to continue in organized baseball," a spokesman said.

A fee of $8 must be charged to assure knowledgeable instruction. The program will run two afternoons a week for two hours per afternoon. The time and place of the program will be available at registration.

The program is open to all San Bruno boys between the ages of eight and 12. Anyone wishing to register for the program should remember that the instruction will be very basic; geared more to the beginning player.

Registrations will be taken at the War Memorial Center April 7-13, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The program will begin the week of April 16, and run for the next eight weeks.

PE Still Required for S.M. Colleges

Physical education will continue to be required of all undergraduate full-time students in the San Mateo Community College District, the board of trustees decided by a split vote last week before a large crowd at Skyline College.

The board and several faculty argued the merits of the proposal for an hour before the board first rejected an administration recommendation that PE would be optional for all but those students in the Associate of Arts degree program.

Then the board approved Trustee James R. Tormey Jr.'s motion that full-time students, including t erminal vocatiocnal, be required to have at least two semesters of PE, with at least one each of the two years before graduation.

Joining Tormey in the 3-2 majority were trustees Robert A. Tarver and Carl E. Ward, with Board President Eleanore D. Nettle and Trustee Francis W. Pearson against it.

Opponents of the mandatory PE charged that the requirement flies in the face of recent state legislation, including a recent law removing state requirements and another giving persons 18 years old adult status and therefore the right to choose.

They in fact are "adult enough to make the decision," Pearson and Mrs. Nettle said in their opposition.

Tormey called physical conditioning "a process of life" and said he had been on the local Heart Association board of directors too long to let this go unchallenged. American food intake and lack of exercise "are what kill half of us," he said.

The catch-all requirement is because "those most in need of a little physical exercise are most likely to duck it," Tormey noted.

He got lots of support from the physical education faculties of College of San Mateo, Canada and Skyline, several of whom spoke in favor of mandatory PE.

It isn't just athletics but "skills for life" that are taught, according to Cliff Giffin, PE department chairman at CSM.

Several speakers, however, pointed out that the average age of local college students is going up and that those 21 and over aren't affected anyway. The result could be "discriminatory against a small group," Canada College President James W. Duke warsed.

Margie Morris, a 25-year-old CSM student council member, said she took PE voluntarily but thought Tormey was "terribly out of touch with reality."

District rules and regulations still will exempt from PE all students 21 years old and over, junior college graduates, those day students with eight or less units, all service veterans except six-month reserves and students excused for medical reasons.

In other business last night the board:

Approved revised AA graduation requirements at Canada but with direction to the staff to have a study of the district's whole program of unit transfer to senior colleges sent back to the board next year with clear lines of what's transferable and what isn't. Tormey charged that "We are getting too much flak back on this." Called for bids for a new telephone system to replace the present Centrex setup, which it doesn't like.

Learned that sabbatical leaves should cost $16,400 less next year because of fewer being taken.

At Devil's Slide

Forty Gawkers Cited

Forty persons who wended their way down a treacherous trail to the beach below Devil's Slide on the San Mateo Coastside Saturday were cited for trespassing by sheriff's deputies.

The deputies, Robert Poynter and Robert Reed, indicated in their report that the main attraction on the beach was a group of 10 men and two women who were running around and lying on the beach in the nude.

The deputies stopped at the scene about 4:10 p.m. after noting cars parked all over—on the highway shoulder and in emergency turnout spaces—creating a traffic hazard. There were two near collisions because of the concentration of vehicles.

Persons who weren't on the beach 150 yards below the roadside were leaning over the the guard rail looking at the scene, the deputies reported.

Poynter noted that the trail was posted with no-trespassing signs placed by the county. As the beach invaders climbed back to the top of the cliff, Poynter and Reed were waiting with their citation books.

The officer said that most of the people on the beach were in their late teens or early twenties, although there were a few young children in the group. All were from San Francisco.

Body Identified: Burlingame Woman

The body of a woman found on Linda Mar Beach in Pacifica Wednesday morning has been identified as that of a Burlingame interior decorator, Mrs. Joan Hovland, 42, of 1932 Garden Drive. She had been reported missing March 18 and is believed to have taken her own life.

According to Robert Cole, chief coroner's investigator, Mrs. Hovland, who was separated from her husband, Robert, was reported missing on March 18 by a nephew, Adrian Catarino of Modesto, who told Burlingame police he drove to her apartment when a friend reported that Mrs. Hovland had been extremely depressed and who own life last December. Catarino identified her at the county morgue yesterday afternoon.

Cole said Mrs. Hovland had canceled an appointment with a psychiatrist last Friday. Her car was located abandoned on Great Highway near the San Francisco beach by police the same day.

On March 27 her husband came to the Burlingame police station with two letters he had found in her apartment — one asking that no funeral be held and the other requesting contributions be made to some humane society or animal protection agency.

Douglas McKay, 24, business administration major, 1152 Meadow Lane, Burlingame.

"This was really a remarkable semi-final performance by our students," said Mrs. Weston. "What it means is that every one of our entrants was a winner in competition with students from at least eight or nine other community colleges."

Bank of America conducts the awards program each year to honor outstanding students whose scholastic attainment, sense of civic responsibility and leadership give most promise of future success and service to society.

New Spanish Plan at CSM

A pilot program, utilizing the small group approach in teaching conversational Spanish at the College of San Mateo, has passed its first year with "encouraging results," an evaluation released this week disclosed.

Jeff Robinson, projects coordinator for the CSM Learning Center where the course is given, said that the program's success merits its expansion into other economic areas.

Students meet twice a week for one hour in groups of five to seven. These sessions supplement the regular Spanish classes they attend.

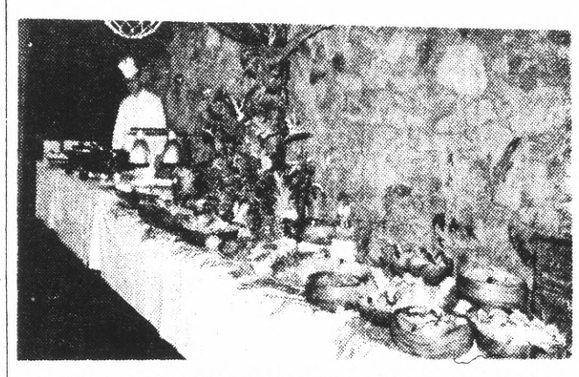
Straw Hat Pizza New In Foster City Area

The Straw Hat Pizza Palace in Foster City is now open and doing a landoffice business. This "People Pleasin' Pizza" headquarters is featuring pizza, salads, sandwiches, soft drinks, and, yep, even hamburgers. Eat in or take out is the house policy. If you eat in, there are old-time movies to enjoy. Located at 1489 Beach Park Boulevard, the new Straw Hat Pizza Palace invites your patronage . . . "Make reservations for Easter Sunday" Brunch now," says Mike Quivey, Food and Beverage Director of the Holiday Inn, South San Francisco. In order to accommodate the anticipated crowds on Easter Sunday, service hours for the brunch will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. . . . The International Gourmet Deli, located in Borel Square, now has new owners. The one-quarter-pound "Super Sandwiches" are still on the feature list, and free delivery to local offices of a minimum of 10 sandwiches, or more. Catering (any size party) is a specialty here. 345-8042 is the number to call.



NEW LUNCHEON POLICY — The exotic Castaway at Coyote Point has bowed to popular demand and introduced a daily buffet luncheon. Presented in the style of their famous Sunday Brunch, the Buffet Lunch is available Mondays through Saturdays, from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The Castaway's Aloha Luncheon Menu is also available, with service from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Nick's Moonraker Is Unusual & Picturesque

As patrons work over their plates of food in awed silence or engage in conversations that are obviously of a romantic nature, an unusually picturesque tide creates huge waves which beat against the beaches and the seawall fronting Nick Gust's Moonraker at Rockaway Beach, Pacifica.

Manager Joseph Mollich takes reservations, seats guests and sees that everything goes smoothly. Many of the fish specialties — the Australian Lobster Tail, the Abalone Plate, the Shrimp and Crabmeat Combination — keep the kitchen considerably active.

One of those who is hard at work is master chef Werner Bertram, who hails from Koblene, which is part of Rhineland Germany. He is an imposing figure in his white apron: He stands 6'3" and weighs 240 pounds. Somehow he manages to direct his attention at several things at once.

Children also dine on the special fare Sunday nights. You really should try it . . . Scotty Campbell's is one of those warm eating places which considers each customer a personal guest. Adrian Stickney Has Sharp Eye For Antiques

Adrian "Red" Stickney, owner of the Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto, has a fine eye for good antiques. His restaurants are graced by authentic examples of old Americana, such as the apothecary jars at the Shirt Tail. The rare antiques are nearly a century old and once were a part of every druggist's paraphernalia . . . Frank and Fannie Torres, who operate Torres Beach restaurant, Montara (that's on the Coastside near Half Moon Bay), suggest you try one of their South American specialties of the house. The Papas Relleno is a favorite here, one which attracts people from far and near. . . . Four-thirty is cocktail time at Saluto's on the Burlingame strip. Owner Larry Geraldi serves up 18 types of hot and cold hor d' oeuvres to the young Peninsula executives, pretty airline stewardesses, and local residents who are finding out that this is the place where it is all happening. Stay for dinner afterwards if you should be so inclined . . . Doros in San Francisco had some of the best known stars from Hollywood as dinner guests a few nights ago. Steve McQueen was here with two beauties, and Esther Williams dined with Fernando Lamas, her husband.

Veronica Lehr's Art At Garden Cafe Gallery

Paintings by Veronica Lehr, vivacious wife of Phil Lehr, owner of Phil Lehr's Steakery in San Francisco, are on exhibit at the Garden Cafe Gallery in Burlingame through April 7. A talented artist, Veronica's landscapes and still lifes are prized by art collectors throughout the United States . . . You're sure to meet your friends at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant, where hot and cold hors d'oeuvres are served nightly, 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., in the lounge. Whether it be cocktails, luncheon or dinner, a cordial time is always had by all. Special arrangements can also be made for large parties. Enjoyment comes from not only the neighborly atmosphere, but your selection from a varied menu of Italian and sea food dishes . . . George McCaman of The Shadows of San Mateo has batted 1.000 in the last two major professional sports championships (World Series and the Super Bowl). Which means he failed to pick the eventual winner in both cases. However, credit must be given where credit is due: McCaman "lowered" himself from the professional level and maintained that UCLA "perhaps" would end up as NCAA basketball champion. Nervous from this snap decision, he refuses to consider the NBA playoffs at this time.

New Borel's Remarkable Architectural Effect

Borel's, a spacious, modern restaurant that is a remarkable architectural structure, is now open for business on Campus Drive in San Mateo's new Peninsula Office Park. Designated as the Flagship restaurant of the rapidly-growing Borel empire (now numbering 12 locations), Borel's, which is a two-level restaurant in a park-like setting, is rated as one of the Peninsula's most exciting restaurants. On the top level is the main entrance and a spacious cocktail lounge (live entertainment nightly), as well as an outdoor patio with a superb view. On the lower level you will find the main dining area, along with banquet rooms and a separate area (in operation soon) planned as a "quick service" cafeteria. General Manager Biff Barnard says that the food, regardless of the plush surroundings, will not be expensive. The building, as well as the colors, equipment and interior decor are destined to win awards from the restaurant industry . . . The New Southern restaurant in South San Francisco was the site for a recent large gathering of ex-submarine personnel from World War II. Among the ex-Naval veterans present for the reunion were two admirals, one of which was the highest decorated Flag Officer during the war.

New Menu Reaction Overwhelming

There's a new dinner menu at the Brentwood Lodge, in South San Francisco, and it's creating much comment with its reduced prices. Prime Ribs of Beef remains a feature. There are also a la carte dishes, with paste, fish, and a variety of house specialties being well represented . . . Everyone is talking about the Monday night specials at The Skylark. Besides new luncheon and dinner menus, new owner John Gamper features different dinner specials every Monday evening which rotate weekly. The reasonably priced dinners have included Chicken Toscana, Prime Rib, Abalone, Filet Mignon and Lobster Tails . . . San Mateo's fashionable Le Bistro Rouge now has a private banquet room for those special celebrations. Owner Dimitrios Fanopoulos, who has been working on this new banquet facility for quite some time, can now book your luncheon and dinner gatherings as well as social and business functions. Particular attention is given to each dinner . . . Indulge your palate with any of Mamma Bertolucci's specially made pastas, or your choice of any of the Continental cuisine at Bertolucci's restaurant, in South San Francisco. They haven't forgotten that children need smaller portions. So a child's menu is also available.

New Band In Whiskey Hill Off Nights

Dick Volonte, manager of Pete Brallier's Whiskey Hill, reports a new band has been signed to appear on the "off" nights of this pop Burlingame bistro. Called Century, the new group opened Monday night. Meanwhile, Bishop continues to provide the dance sounds Wednesdays through Sundays . . . When planning a trek to Nevada, why not try the eight-hour Turnaround to South Lake Tahoe which may be purchased at all Park Avenue Tours offices. There are Greyhound schedules from San Francisco and Oakland depots, with bonuses up to $6. Also available seven days week, via Greyhound bus or your own car, are the Overnighters, which offer a total bonus value of $10 per person ($6 cash, $1 food credit, and $3 cocktails). Contact the nearest Park Avenue Tours office and enjoy "Entertainment the Nevada Way." It's where the fun is! . . . It's "Eat and drink all you want" at Perry Boys' Smorgy in San Mateo. Over 35 great dishes are on the "help yourself table." Plus, there are desserts and "make your own" sundaes. Hot dishes vary each evening. A Wednesday night feature is a Luau (a traditional Hawaiian feast). Bring the gang — it's a lot of food and a lot of fun.

No Raise In Prices At Chuck's

Chuck's Steak House, in Borel Square, continues to do a remarkable business. Night after night, this San Mateo restaurant is packed with hungry diners well aware of the high quality steaks being served. As for the current meat crisis, Chuck's owners haven't raised their prices — and have no intention of doing so . . . The Iron Horse, located in Maiden Lane, is one of the City's most sought-out dining spots. Serving both luncheon and dinner, the charming New Orleans-type restaurant is convenient to theater-goers, business people and shoppers, as well as being a popular gathering place for cocktail parties, sales meetings, wedding receptions, etc. The menu boasts almost anything you can wish for, and the cocktail hour is a San Francisco tradition . . . Although "hidden away" on the San Mateo County Coastside overlooking the waters of the Pacific in Moss Beach, The Galway Bay Inn is only 25 minutes away from any point on the Peninsula. On a clear day, luncheon and dinner guests can see the Farallones, which Owner Michael de Dalera Murphy says is no "blarney."

Air Transportation Class Is Offered

Air Transportation is a new class being offered this semester at Terra Nova High School under the direction of social science teacher William Whalen.

The course's main objective is to familiarize interested students with Federal Aviation Administration regulations: safety: weather conlitions: pre-flight procedures: navigation and radio communications.

The class has access to a Link trainer, an aircraft flight simulator designed to teach one operation of the instrument panel. The machine is controled by vacuum, allowing the cockpit to tilt right and left, backward and forward.

The link trainer belongs to Lieutenant Hawkes of the Civil Air Patrol, who is allowing T. N. students to use it during the day, while CAP uses it nights. It is now set up in an extention to T. N.' Electric Shop classroom.

Whalen's class is a subsidiary of the Terra Nova Aero-Space club, which he also advises. The club is interested in all aspects of aviation space activities.

Cranston Urges Institution on Aging

California Sen. Alan Cranston said the elderly can't compete for funds against "sexier research projects" like child development and teenage behavior, and renewed his call for a separate National Institute on Aging.

Cranston, ranking majority member of the Labor Subcommittee on Aging, made his remarks at hearings on the Research on Aging Act (S.775), which was passed by the last session of Congress but pocket-vetoed by President Nixon as duplicative.

Cranston said the programs "are not getting a large enough share of the agency's research funds to make the breakthroughs which scientists say are potentially before us."

He said that during hearings he conducted in California last year, for example, "gerontology experts testified that with intensified research they could expand life expectancy by 10 years and longer.

"Those would be additional years of an individual's middle age, when he is still in the fullness of his vitality and productivity," Cranston said.

"With that kind of low profile within NICHD and against the competition of such sexier research projects like child development and teenage behavior within the same agency," Cranston said, "research on problems like arthritis and the process of growing old cannot get either the full focus or the full funding it deserves."

He pointed out there are now some 25 million people over 65 years old — 2.5 million of them in California. "That is seven times the size of the elderly population at the turn of the century," Cranston said.

Garden Club Sets Meeting, Nominations

The Crestmoor Garden Club will meet today.

The nominating committee whose members are Peg Tonneson (chairman), Chris Greco, Mid Hisle, and Carole Dunlap (alternate) will present the slate of new officers.

Members will vote on the recommendations during the meeting, which will start at 8 p.m.

Carolyn Fullendorf, the chairman of the installation dinner, will tell of plans made so far by her committee. U.S.O. cookie hostess for April will be Marge Walker and Carol Schmidt.

Crestmoor Garden Club is a member of the Bay Ocean District California Garden Clubs, Inc. On March 22, the club members were hostesses at the district luncheon in San Mateo. They provided center pieces and prizes for the luncheon.

In February, member of the club toured the F.B.I. facilities in San Francisco and enjoyed an excellent luncheon at Fisherman's Wharf.

'The Restless Ones' Film at Good News

"The Restless Ones," considered the most successful motion picture yet 'produced by evangelist Billy Graham, will be shown at Good News Chapel, South San Francisco April 13, at 7 p.m.

With the accent on youth, this feature-length film deals imaginatively and dramatically with the teen-age crisis. With a background setting provided by a Billy Graham Los Angeles Crusade, and artfully woven into the story pattern, "The Restless Ones" is a hard-hitting, bold approach to our social problems and brings into focus the contemporary plight of both teen-agers and parents.

Rev. Donald P. Wertz, pastor of Good News Chapel, says that there will be no admission charge and that everyone is welcome to attend.

Bowling Party For Pacificans

The Pacifica Community Center bowling party will be held April 13 at the Sea Bowl from 4 to 7 p.m. One dollar and 50 cents covers transportation by bus, bowling shoes, two hours of bowling and prizes.

This trip is open to all third through 6th grade boys and girls in Pacifica .

Permission slips may be obtained from school or your local recreation leader.

The deadline for returning permission slips and $1.50 to your recreation leader is April 10, by 5 p.m.

French Chef: Ham Dinner in Three Acts

By JULIA CHILD
The French Chef

Rather than boiling or baking a ham, you can braise it beautifully in wine and spices; this makes lovely eating hot or cold.

Take it another step: slice it, reform it with a savory mushroom stuffing, top with a creamy sauce, glaze it in the oven, and you have luxury to which few shoulders are accustomed.

You can then take the remains and turn them into an equally delicious saute of slices known as Jambon Morvandelle, using a touch of Madeira wine, and a bit of cream. Three splendid dinners out of one shoulder takes plain old ham out of the hum-drum clove-and-brown-sugar circuit and puts it on the glory road.

HAM TALK. Almost all modern ready-to-cook hams in the markets today are actually what they say they are — ready to cook, meaning they need no pre-soaking and simmering, as was the case years ago when curing processes were longer and saltier. In buying an unlabeled and unfamiliar brand, however, ask the head of the meat department for cooking advice. If you are still doubtful, cut a slice ½ inch thick from the bottom of the ham, saute it slowly to cook through, and taste it. If the ham seems overly salty, soak it 6 hours or overnight in a basin of cold water before cooking. "Country" hams and "Old Virginia" hams are not being considered in these recipes.

JAMBON BRAISE AU MADERE OU AU PORTO — Shoulder of Ham Braised in Wine.

This is a delicious way to cook ham whether you serve it as it, hot or cold, or have other plans. The following proportions are for shoulder of ham; for a large leg, double the proportions and, probably, the timing. Serve with it spinach braised in butter or cream and a puree of chestnuts or mashed potatoes; a smooth red Burgundy would go nicely, a Cote du Rhone, or a fine strong white Burgundy such as Meursault.

A 5½ to 6-lb. shoulder of ready-to-cook ham
A heavy covered casserole or roaster just large enough to hold ham comfortably, with rack
2-3 cup each: sliced carrots, onions, and celery
If available, 1 small sliced leek
2 imported bay leaves
6 allspice berries
6 peppercorns
1½ cups dry white wine or dry white French vermouth
½ cup Sercial Madeira, or dry Port wine
1½ cups chicken stock or bouillon
Aluminum foil
A meat thermometer

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Shave inspection marks, etc., off ham. Place ham fat-side up on rack in roaster, and strew the sliced vegetables, bay, and spices around it; pour on the wines and chicken stock. Cover with foil, and bring to simmer on top of stove. Set on casserole cover, and place in lower middle of preheated oven. Braise 2¼ to 2½ hours, or to a meat thermometer reading of 160 degrees, basting several times during cooking, and regulating oven heat so that liquid in casserole simmers very slowly.

Remove ham. Strain braising juices, pressing liquid out of vegetables; degrease juices, and pour into a warm sauce boat. If you are serving the ham as is but are not yet ready, return ham and juices to casserole, set cover askew, and keep warm over simmering water, in a warming oven (140 degrees), or over a hot tray.

JAMBON GRATINE, DUXELLES — Braised Shoulder of Ham Sliced, Reformed with Mushroom Stuffing, and Gratineed.

Here the preceding ham is given a full-dress finale. When you are serving only 6 to 8, as suggested, slice only what you will need for the occasion, and leave the rest on the bone to act as a support, and to remain intact for other purposes.

The preceding braised ham with its juices
¾ lb. fresh mushrooms
About 1 stick butter (4 ounces)
2 Tb. minced shallots or scallions
Flour
About ½ cup heavy cream
Pepper and salt
About 2 cups hot milk
4 Tb fresh minced parsley
¼ cup grated Swiss cheese

Keep the ham warm as described at end of preceding recipe. While it is braising, or at any convenient time beforehand, trim, wash, and dice the mushrooms; twist by handfuls in the corner of a towel to extract their juices, or put through a potato ricer, adding their juices to ham juice. Heat 2 tablespoons of the butter in a 10-inch frying pan, add the mushrooms and shallots, and saute for several minutes until mushroom pieces begin to separate from each other. Lower heat to moderate, blend in 2 tablespoons of flour, and cook 2 minutes, stirring. Gradually blend in about ¼ cup of the cooking juices with equal amounts of cream, simmering until mushroom mixture is very thick. Stir in the parsley, pepper, and a little salt (be careful about salt, in case ham is salty).

Slice rind and fat off top of ham, then cut serving slices of meat off ham, cutting parallel to bone, making 2 to 3 slices per person. Place unsliced ham, still on its bone, in a baking-and-serving dish, and pile the slices with mushroom stuffing in between each, on and around the ham to make an attractive structure in which an end of the bone is showing.

For the glazing sauce, heat 4 tablespoons of butter in a saucepan, blend in 5 tablespoons of flour, and cook slowly, stirring, for 2 minutes without browning. Remove from heat, let cool a moment, then blend in 1½ cups of the hot milk, beating vigorously. Return over heat, bring to the simmer, and thin out with tablespoons of the cooking juices and cream. Sauce should be thick enough to coat a spoon (meaning it will coat the ham nicely). Correct seasoning, spoon sauce over the ham to mask it completely, sprinkle on the cheese, and dot with a tablespoon of butter cut into bits.

Set in middle or upper third of a pre-heated 425 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes, to reheat and to brown sauce nicely. Serve, accompanied by the remaining juices in a warm bowl.

TRANCHES DEJAMBON, MORVANDELLE — Ham Slices with Mushrooms and Cream.

For leftover braised or boiled ham, cut into serving slices three-eighths inch thick, saute briefly in butter to brown lightly, then add minced shallots (1 tablespoon for 6 slices), Madeira or Port wine (1-3 cup), cover and barely simmer 5 minutes, uncover and pour in heavy cream (½ cup). Boil down rapidly until sauce is lightly thickened. Serve with boiled rice and fresh buttered peas.

Nutrition for The Elderly

Older persons tend to neglect their diet, a tendency which contributes to feelings of weakness, fatigue and illness. Their bodies require fewer calories but their need for protein, calcium, minerals and vitamins still exist. For a balanced diet, Dairy Council of California nutrition consultants suggest daily selections from the Four Groups: milk, meats, vegetables and fruits, and breads and cereals.

Name-Calling at SSF Council Meet

South San Francisco's two top city officials came under withering fire Monday night in a council meeting highlighted by angry name-calling and bitter accusations.

The wildest skirmish involved a debate over the status of the city's rat-proofing ordinance.

Councilman Pat Ahern accused Fred Hull, director of ecological development, of notifying the building inspector that he need no longer require builders to install rat-proofing. This was defined by a 1949 city ordinance as a two-inch layer of cement placed over all the dirt under a house.

"I'd like to know where anybody got the authority," Ahern asked, "to change the law that any council has instituted."

Mayor Frank Mammini insisted that the matter should be left to the discretion of the building department. Concrete under the house could be a problem, he insisted.

Hull explained that in certain locations, hydrostatic pressure—underground water pressure—can force water up through the concrete where it sets in pools, unable to be reabsorbed into the ground when the pressure lowers.

"If this law can be changed without going to the council," Ahern complained, "then any law could be changed without going to the council."

City Atty. John Noonan gave a non-committal opinion. One cannot change an ordinance on staff level, he agreed with Ahern, but only the council can change an ordinance.

Since the city's building code is based upon the 1968 Standard Building Code, the building inspector may follow the code's provisions of permitting alternate procedures or materials in certain cases, Noonan added, agreeing with Hull.

Noonan said that he would check with the engineering office to see if the procedures outlined in the code had been followed.

Particularly close questioning of the situation came from Gary Goren, 3741 Fairfax Way, in Westborough Hills. It is his new townhouse under which ratproofing was said to have caused an accumulation of water. As a result of an engineer's recommendation, his rat-proofing was about to be cracked open—and he wanted to know his rights.

Ahern alleged that Hull told Leonard Pitts, recently resigned chief building inspector, to change the ordinance administratively because he did not want to face the city council with the proposal.

Ahern's questioning of Hull, as well as that of City Manager Gale Dreisbach, resulted in a number of statements of "I already told you" and remarks from Mammini that Ahern simply found it hard to understand things because he was not very bright.

An argument followed introduction of a resolution to approve specifications and call for bids for two three-wheel streetsweepers. The agenda said "one three-wheel streetsweeper," but Mayor Mammini explained that this was a misprint.

Questions from Ahern followed, over the cost and the number of streetsweepers needed.

"When you have to count up to three you get confused," Mammini commented.

"for a sweeper I get confused," "for a sweeper I get confuesd," Ahern retorted.

"There is no confusion about [illegible] sweepers being over 10 years old," Councilman Warren Steinkamp added.

The vote on that was 4-0.

Councilman William A.Borba, who heads a local factory manufacturing trophies, announced that he was going to lead a campaign against a proposal by Dreisbach and Director of Finance Ed Alario to raise business license fees, now a uniform $25.

"Being that under state law we cannot raise real estate taxes, theyr'e going to raise the business tax," Borba complained.

He added another complaint against Hull. He had asked him where the new superintendents of the recreation department were from and was told they were from South San Francisco. It turned out that two were from Belmont and one from San Leandro.

"We pay the man's company (VTN, which provides administrative services on contract,) $35,000," he complained. "Doesn't he know where the men he hires are from?"

The meeting concluded with a complaint from citizen Bob Anderson, accusing the mayor of abusing the public and his fellow councilmen. Mammini apologized for any embarrassment he may have caused members of the public, but had no apologies for his remarks to Ahern.

"Do you think that this staff should have to take this abuse week after week?" Mammini replied. "If you want to get rid of staff, you don't continue to bait staff in public, hoping they'll quit. Mr. Anderson, I'm sorry, I cannot take that kind of abuse."

$100,000 Bail Set in DC Homicide

Willie J. Patterson Jr., 29, charged with murder of a man visiting his estranged wife on March 27, pleaded not guilty in Judge Jose deLarios court.

Wednesday, Judge Charles Becker set bail at $100,000.

Patterson is accused of shooting to death William Moses, 37, a New York postal worker who was visiting his brother in Daly City.

Moses is reported to have arrived in Daly City Sunday, visiting his brother at 772 Templeton Avenue. According to police reports, the two went to a bar in San Francisco, where the victim met Betty Patterson for the first time. Tuesday, he took her out to dinner, then took her home where she invited him in for a drink. While at the kitchen bar, police said, Patterson burst in and demanded to know who the visitor was, according to Mrs. Patterson. She told her estranged husband that he should not be in her home. He turned as though to leave, then whirled around again and started shooting, police charged.

Mrs. Patterson claims that, as she fled through the front door, her husband shot at her as well, but missed, according to police.

Moses died from a wound in his temple; he was also shot in his upper shoulder.

Patterson was arrested by Pacifica police, who — answering a call from Mrs. Patterson — found him sitting in a car in front of the home at 618 Foothill Drive located in the Fairmont section of Pacifica. He offered no resistance to police.

S.F. Airport Growth Told

Continuing growth in the flow of air passengers and air freight through San Francisco International Airport, is indicated by the airport's most recent traffic reports.

The 1,114,410 passengers total and 46,404,529 pounds of air freight shipments were record highs for any February in Airport history.

The passenger count was up 8.7 per cent over February last year, and air freight volume gained 2.4 per cent.

Airport Director William J. Dwyer pointed out that the monthly percentage gain in air freight was the highest since November, 1972.

February 1973 passenger figures for the first eight months of the current fiscal year exceed the previous corresponding fiscal year totals by more than one million passengers, substantiating a continued steady growth in passenger traffic at San Francisco International Airport.

Fighting Again At Wounded Knee

They are fighting again at Wounded Knee as they did in 1890. Once again the ghost of Sitting Bull hovers over the battlefield and his poetry floats through the air inspiring a displaced nation.

Sitting Bull was a poet and a medicine man, as well as a war chief, and a great part of his personal power over the Indians of the plains may be ascribed to his skill in composing and chanting stirring songs.

During war dances he would dance before a fire, shake his war ax, and sing.

Young men, help me, do help me!
I love my country so;
That is why I am fighting.

Once he heard a wolf crying in the lonely, fierce way of wolves. He listened, and found a message in the wolf's howl that he wrote into a chant.

I am a lonely wolf, wandering pretty nearly all over the world.
He! He! He!
What is the matter? I am having a hard time, friend.
This that I tell you, you will have to do also.
Whatever I want, I always get it.
Your name will be big, as mine is big.
Hiu! Hiu.

Sitting Bull was killed as he resisted an effort to confine him to an Indian reservation, but his poetry and songs lived to send his followers to the bloody battle of Wounded Knee.

THERE IS A MUSICAL quality in Sitting Bull's songs that reaches into the heart and stirs up the passions that prompt men to fight for home and country. This was behind the Battle of Wounded Knee in 1890 and may be the kind of spirit that moves the present day warriors who are encamped there.

Pretty Bird, you saw me and took pity on me;
You wished me to survive among the people.
O Bird People, from this day always you shall be my relatives.

Sitting Bull is only one of many Indian poets and singers whose work should be read by Americans. Besides war, they sang of love and nature and of God and of the trails they traveled.

In some Indian songs there is a tenderness that makes them lovely. For example, there is a love song from a Wintu tribesman.

It is above that you and I shall go;
Along the Milky Way you and I shall go;
Along the flower trail you and I shall go;
Picking flowers on our way you and I shall go.

Many Indian songs reap their effect on the hearer through repetition. Some lines that the Paiutes sung as they swayed in their ghost dance illustrates this. They should be read as a chant with the shouting of the second stanza trailing off in the third.

The wind stirs the willows
The wind stirs the willows
The wind stirs the grasses
The wind stirs the grasses.
Fog! Fog!
Lightning! Lightning!
Whirlwind
The whirlwind!
The whirlwind!
The snowy earth comes gliding
The snowy earth comes gliding.

INDIAN POETRY can be found in several anthologies. Among them there are "The Sky Clears" by A. Grave Day and "In the Trail of the Wind" edited by John Bierhorst. Both provide a fascinating and valuable introduction to a body of literature that deserves to be more widely known.

Biography

The concept of a film biography of St. Francis of Assisi changed drastically between the time director Franco Zeffirelli planned it and finished the movie soon to be released under the title "Brother Sun, Sister Moon."

It began as a musical featuring the Beatles with musical help from Leonard Bernstein. Which one was to play the young religious leader is not known and all that came of those early negotiations is a musical score written and sung by Donovan.

Two unknowns, Graham Faulkner and Judi Bowker, agiddy 19 year olds, were found in England to play Francis and Clare (who founded the Poor Clare Sisters order of nuns) and they frankly admit they have no idea how they were chosen.

"I was straight out of drama school and my agent sent me to audition. I figured maybe I'd play a spare monk or an extra," Faulkner explained.

"All the photos I had were Colgate types and I doubt if Franco was impressed. He said, 'so you want to be an actor' and then we talked awhile."

"He told me to come back the following week with something prepared for a screen test, maybe something from Chekhov and 'with heart.' I know you English actors are all in the head, he said."

"The next day he called and said, quite simply, 'Congratulations.' It was as easy as that. I was numb."

Faulkner was reluctant to tag St. Francis as a pre-hippie, 13th century drop-out although he agrees it is an obvious parallel.

The 24 year old actor didn't know anything about the saint except that he "spoke to birds."

"Franco gave me the books to read he had used in writing the script and allowed me to go to Assisi and wander around his haunts."

"I shaping my character I followed Franco's sweeping statement that we must all think in terms of simplicity, not intellect that would complicate the story."

Since the film, Faulkner has done one season in the theater, playing Romeo with the Wattford Theater, outside London.

What did he think of making his film debut with the celebrated Sir Alec Guinness who plays Pope Innocent III and is moved to kiss the feet of the young mystic.

"He is a very serious man and the role reflects his inner personal feelings. He is a Catholic convert, and was so warm and real that I soon lost my nervousness."

Their scene together was filmed in the huge Mon Reale Cathedral in Sicily filled with Byzantine figures the same as were in the Vatican in that century.

"It was all in gold filigree, like a Cecil B. DeMille set and we had to film at night because the church was used during the day. The staircase the Pope descends was specially built to cover over two enormous organs."

Miss Bowker's involvement with the film came even easier. She lived next door to a photographer who took fashion pictures that were circulated around. Zeffirelli chose her from them.

That Was the Week That Was,

The Options

Public men live by options. Office holders who plan careers along only one path often fall like tired souffles. In studying political futures all choices and opportunities should be considered.

John Connally has interesting options — as a possible Presidential nominee of either major party. But his Republican chances weren't helped last week by widely printed articles about his caution in switching at this time. Tomorrow's hero is hardly to be found among the faint hearted in time of trouble. An attractive possibility for either party he is already a "late" Republican, and should move now if headed that way.

Calls from Letterman Hospital say much. The hospitals remain full of seriously wounded Vietnam veterans. They wonder, not so quietly, why they aren't included in the big things for POWs. Why not?

A break for Timothy Leary. He has testified that "most of the time I am not Timothy Leary."

Tom Hayden (husband of Jane Fonda) is in a sulk over the end of the war. It wasn't the bug out he sought, so now all is a big plot. He calls the POW's liars, hypocrites, and pawns. Our appreciation for their return is some kind of cover up for the fact that we really lost the war. Wouldn't these be gray days if we had done it Tom's and Jane's way?

As though the fuel shortage crisis wasn't big enough, the Assembly of the State Legislature has formed a special subcommittee to deal with the matter. If they come up with solutions as rapidly as they have on school taxation, reapportionment and other issues, we will all freeze to death. In any event, the problem seems best left in the hands of the private sector and American ingenuity and inventiveness, qualities that will hardly be advanced by more legislation.

A smoke filled room is really waiting for the politicos who continue to fiddle while deciding who pays for clean up of dead trees in East Bay hills.

To hear the big city mayors howl, one would think the budget was being reduced. Instead, the new one is bigger than ever, and the proportion spent on human resources as distinguished from defense continues to rise. Little remembered facts are that 66 per cent more will be spent to help the poor than was the case four years ago, 67 per cent more to help the sick, 71 per cent more to help older Americans and 242 per cent more to help the hungry and malnourished. Coming budget for human resources is nearly double that of four years ago.

Options — Ronald Reagan looks like he really will sit out the 1974 campaign. His line seems to include '76 choices — a run against Tunney and a chance to run for the Presidency. Not to be ignored is the possibility of big success in tax reduction ballot proposition in November and a true draft for Governor.

Pretty soon we can all switch to meat in order to get away from the high prices of fish and chicken. Suggest next boycott begin quite soon.

The ecology movement has changed. The armies of college students have greatly diminished, and the work is being carried on by the "pros." Organizations such as the Sierra Club dominate the field. Result is not, as yet, any reduction in overall effect of the movement. Fewer people are doing a more competent job.

Man of the week — Marlon Brando had it all the way, but was overtaken at the last moment by Tom Hayden.

Editor, The Post:

It was my understanding, as well as that of many of my friends, that Proposition 20 was intended to control building and development along the California coast with the aim of retaining the beauty of this area.

Imagine, then, my surprise and consternation when, recently, I drove through the Montara-Moss Beach communities of San Mateo County's Coastside where ticky-tackies have begun sprouting like so many deadly amanita. Were these all confined to one area behind high walls, it might not be so bad. But, these two-story appleboxes are being built in a dozen or more different places, each a blight on the block on which it is constructed; each a potential slum dwelling.

Upon venturing farther south and observing the attractive community of Clipper Ridge and the magnificent development of Frenchman's Creek, it makes one wonder what Proposition 20 is all about.

Elio A. Fontana for County Board of Education

Three seats on the San Mateo County Board of Education will be at stake in the coming elections of April 17, but there will be only one contest.

Veteran Incumbent J. Paul Bradley of La Honda is without opposition for re-election to the First District post.

Granville M. De Merritt of South San Francisco has no opponent for the District Three seat.

The sole contest is in the Second District where the candidates are Elio A. Fontana of Colma, and Morris J. Tolson of Daly City.

In this election The Times recommends to its readers the candidacy of Elio A. Fontana, a successful businessman with 20 years of service to the Jefferson Union High School District and the San Mateo County Community College District already to his credit. He is highly knowlegeable on school matters and would bring the County Board a wealth of experience plus excellent executive ability.

It also recommends the casting of decisive complimentary votes for J. Paul Bradley and Granville M. De Merritt.

Snow Job

LAST YEAR WE SAID we were happy Ms. Jane Fonda went to Hanoi. And the only thing we were disappointed in was she might come back to the states. She did. And we were disappointed, to be sure Now we learn, via returning POWs, that Ms. Fonda and former AG Ramsey Clark did much to prolong their stay at the "Hanoi Hilton." Not to mention the snow job they mouthed about the "humane treatment" our men received.

THE SHADOW KNOWS about a "freeze" put on a contract for a new roof at the Old City Hall on 75 Wellington Avenue, Daly City. We had decided earlier not to say anything about it, but the more we heard, the bigger the problem of keeping mum became. So here is what we've learned: Last month bids were opened for the job.

Low bidder, by far, was the Jack Johnson Roofing Co. However, some hotshots at City Hall felt Johnson's bid was too low. They asked for a recheck. They got one. The Johnson bid stood, even after the so-called "experts" at City Hall all but called the Johnson company rep a liar. After all the arguing it turns out another company — lo and behold — turns in a bid that just happens to be a few dollars below Johnson's. The man responsible for this unusual state of affairs is on vacation. We would hope the Powers-That-Be have a heart-to-heart discussion with him on his return. And we are certain this "misunderstanding," as one City Hall official calls it, will be cleared up. Pronto!

It is our further understanding that the Johnny-come-lately low bidder's original bid was considerably higher than Johnson's.

TOO MUCH HAS BEEN said about who will become the next mayor of Daly City. Each year the City Council itself chooses one of its members to fill the middle chair. For the past seven years, it has been Bud Lycett. This year he is tired. You can read whatever you want into the fact he is turning over the chair to someone else, but simply: Bud Lycett is t-i-r-e-d. He is tired of the time it takes to fill that seat, the money he spends out of his own pocket, and the constant demands on his family.

THE FIVE MEMBERS of the City Council of Daly City are elected by the people. They are all good men. Why else did we put them there? So what difference does it make who sits in the middle. The magic number, as it has always been, is three. Without three votes that guy in the middle can't do nothing. In light fun, we predicted some months ago that it would be Mac Stewart taking over Lycett's post. We KNEW Lycett was tired, that he was sick, that he has a bad heart. And we figured in as much as Stewart was vice-mayor, well . . . And so another so-called "local" or "official" or whatever you want to call it (we have our own name for it) newspaper is trying to make a "big scope" out of the fact that Stewart might not be the next mayor. That's for the councilmen to decide among themselves, and not for the general public, or a newspaper. If they want it the other way around, make the mayor's post an elective one. Period.

THE WIFE AND I took what money we had scraped together over the years and plunked it down on a rather nice little home in Daly City. We painted, papered, put in flowers and grass. Worked day and night to make it "home."

And, like thousands of others in our community, we are proud of what we have. We pay good taxes — $954 last year, not to mention the upkeep on the house. We shop in our town and proudly show folks who visit around the city. It's not important where we live in Daly City — all people feel the same about their homes, I believe. So recently my home like all others, was called a dump, a shack — worse — by a columnist in a newspaper that weekly reminds people they are the "official" paper, the "only paper devoted entirely to Daly City." Ad Nauseam. Devoted to what? Tearing down people's dreams? Cut out the jokes fellas.

You're about as "official" as the London flu is the official disease of England.

SAYINGS WE LIKE — Homeowner Al Jenkin to the Daly City City Planning Commission: "BART is here to stay. There's been too much money and concrete poured into it to let it die."

WE'VE BEEN ASSURED in no uncertain terms by JESD Supt. Frank Greenwood that the school district's equipment was not used to print that "Profile" letter now circulating which outlines the profiles of SOME candidates running in the April 17 school election.

One of those anonymous phone calls from a concerned taxpayer to this office, alleging the machine in the administration office had been used to run off several thousand of the letters (at 4-cents each) sparked a response from Greenwood that was fast and to the point. If such a thing ever happened, he assured, the culprit(s) would be fired on the spot.

SOME FOLKS HAVE taken us to task for continually pointing up what we consider to be certain "activities" in the JESD — that's the board in which three incumbents are running. They say we "nit pick"; that such things as the cost of those portables down at Fernando Rivera (which were opinioned to be put there under certain Education Code violations); that the fact it took so long to fix toilets at M. Pauline Brown and to restore heat there;

That the DA recently told the Board they met in illegal session in regards to dismissal of Mrs. Marion Armstrong; that the district (namely you and me) could not afford the Savage School in St. Francis Heights next to a freeway (this was borne out when the district recently let some 30 teachers go and told they were $286,000 in the hole);

That certain school trustees go off to such faraway places as Montreal and Boston, Carmel-by-the-Sea, and God knows where else at our expense; that Personnel Commission members, such as candidate Mrs. Jeanne Kennaugh, were using telephone credit cards paid for by the people of Daly City for what I consider to be other than school district business; for, according to the DA, not following the rules on use of the districts. Revolving Cash Fund; the granting of pay raises by Greenwood to himself and his aides and, again after the DA warned that was a no-no, having to give back the pay raises;

The reimbursement request of a school board (male) trustee for a suit he had spilled a drink on during a school board meeting; using the Revolving Cash Fund of the district for travel expense advances; for attempts by the male majority of the school board to time and again try to gag the right of free thinking people to talk out at public sessions.

FOR THESE AND other reasons, if they be "nit picking," I shall continue to nitpick. Over the past seven years the DA has given numerous opinions on operations in this district.

When will the board listen?

Police Nab 2 S.M. Theft Suspects

A red-bearded young Hayward man and a San Mateo girl were arrested on burglary charges last week by police.

The 18-year-old female suspect was handcuffed to a fire hydrant in the 3900 block of Beresford Street while police chased her companion.

The pair later told police that they had met at a drug program last October. Her auto was found loaded with tool boxes, at least some of which, police said, were stolen from private garages in the vicinity of Forty-first Avenue and El Camino Real.

Hypodermic syringes were found, police said, and they reported the male suspect admitted a $50-a-day heroin habit. The girl told police that she was awaiting court action in a stolen credit card case.

Arrested were William Grundell, 23, of Hayward, and Susan Lee Showers, 18, of 1315 Cleveland Street, San Mateo.

Police said it all began about 10:30 a.m. Thursday when a woman noticed a blue auto cruising slowly along the 300 block of West Forty-second Avenue. A girl was driving, and a man was looking intently at her home, she said.

The witness heard the auto stop, but with the engine running. She knew her garage door was open, and looked into it from the kitchen door. She locked that door and went outside through her front door as she heard footsteps in the garage.

Approaching, she found the male with his hands on a tool box in the garage. She confronted him and asked what he was doing. He answered that her son had told him about a rocket. She told him she had no son.

She demanded he show his pockets and he revealed a bottle of pills and an address book, but when she asked him to remove his jacket he answered, she said, "I know I don't have any business in your garage, and you don't have any business in my jacket."

With this, he walked out and got in the car. She took the license number and called police.

Police stopped the car at Thirty-ninth and Beresford after a short pursuit north on Beresford.

As the male fled across the lawns, the girl jumped out and told police, "I don't know him. He just jumped in my car and pointed a gun at me."

She was handcuffed to a fire hydrant and the officer, joined by others, pursued the man. Several residents reported seeing him running through their yards. He was located about 10 minutes later by Officer Robert Bennett in a backyard on Beresford Court at the rear of the Villa Hotel. Bennett captured him.

1,100 More Residential Units Seen in Carlos

Right now the City of San Carlos anticipates construction of about 1,100 more residential untis within city limits, but only a portion would attract families with school-age children, San Carlos Schools trustees were assured Wednesday night by City Planning Director Melcolm Byce.

Byce attended the trustees' meeting at their invitation to discuss implications of future residential construction on the school district.

Displaying an aerial map of San Carlos and surrounding areas, Byce pointed out major subdivisions, both those under construction and proposed, and the types of housing planned for each.

Of the 1,109 untis now palnned, he said, 338 are already being built. The 1,109 figure is broken down as 559 apartments, 312 townhouses and 238 single-family dwellings.

The 98-unit Vista de San Carlos, which received city council approval last Monday, will be built on 10,000 square foot lots and should be "in the $70,000 price range." Byce prophesized. He indicated, in fact, that he expects all single family homes in San Carlos to run $68,000 to $70,000. "I wouldn't look for anything built to be cheaper than that today," he declared. "You'd have to have a common wall for it to be cheaper."

San Carlos currently has a very healthy real estate market, he continued. "Housing has been moving very well, and there is rapid turnover," he said.

Byce hesitated to comment on the controversial Lincoln Roth subdivision of 471 units in the city's western hills, but said that because of litigation which could tie up the project for some time, "I don't anticipate any construction up there at least until a year from this summer."

Areas which will have some impact on San Carlos schools included 15 single family units near School Site 8; about 75 per cent of the 442 housing units in Lincoln-Roth, and 123 single family homes in Brittan Heights No. 3. That area has had a "much lower children's population than even they expected," reported Byce.

Quiried about the Laureola School area which has had an unbalanced enrollment, Byce said he foresees no population changes either upward or downward there. "Generally the houses in that area are appreciating in value, so I think the need for Laureola School is going to persist for some time," he concluded.

Bad Day at Huddart

Young Boozers Evicted From Park

San Mateo County's Huddart Park near Woodside was closed to access Sunday afternoon while sheriff's deputies evicted an estimated 400 boozing teenagers who were fighting among themselves and h arassing other park visitors.

Deputy Bruce Molyneux summoned assistance after being informed by park rangers at 2:20 p.m. that the teen-agers, many of them intoxicated, had been shouting obscenities at other park visitors in the lower meadow area and had broken several car windows.

A task force of a dozen deputies headed by Sgt. Ken Frank responded, and the sheriff's helicopter, piloted by Greg Analla, cruised overhead.

The rangers closed the park at 2:40 p.m.

Molyneux said the area where the teen-agers were gathered was littered with liquor bottles and beer cans.

Ordered by Frank and by Deputy Don Faulstich, the helicopter observer, over loudspeakers to disperse, the teen-agers left the park without incident, but with minor verbal harassment of the officers. No arrests were made.

Molyneux said most of the teen-agers were from Pacifica, Daly City and San Francisco.

Some were recongized as members of motorcycle groups, although the gathering didn't appear to be an organized gang get together, the deputy reported.

Assistant Sheriff Eugene Stewart said Monday that similar incidents occurred in the same area of the park last fall.

He stated that he plans to consult with County Parks and Recreations Department authorities as to the best method of control to prevent future incidents.

Widow Wins Suit Against Mortuary

A Redwood City widow was awarded $4,000 in punitive and exemplary damages last week, after a Southern District Municipal Court jury decided that a mortuary company had taken advantage of the bereaved woman after her husband died suddenly during a weekend holiday.

McCormick Mortuary, a Los Angeles based firm with an office in Lake Tahoe where the widow's husband died, was ordered by Municipal Judge Thomas Smith to pay the widow $4,000 in damages and $500 in attorney's fees.

The widow, 43-year-old Priscilla Beeler, related the following in a complaint filed by her attorney, Robert F. Lee.

Mrs. Beeler and her husband, Lloyd, age 43, were on a weekend holiday at Lake Tahoe when her husband was suddenly stricken by a heart attack on May 16, 1971. Mrs. Beeler accompanied her husband's body to a local hospital where a representative of McCormick Mortuary approached the woman.

While offering his services, the mortuary representative mistakenly told the widow that the body of her husband must be placed in a casket before being shipped back to Redwood City.

Mrs. Beeler—in a state of shock over her husband's sudden death—signed a promissory note for $1,207 to cover the cost of the casket, embalming fees, preparation of the body, use of the mortuary's casket coach for transfer of the body and other services.

When the casket arrived at Crippen & Flynn Woodside Chapel the folliwing day, personnel at the Redwood City mortuary were astonished when they opened the casket and discovered the body of the widow's husband was nude and had not been "cosmetically prepared".

Although California law requires that bodies transferred in common carriers must be placed in a casket, bodies transported by mortuary coaches need not be placed in caskets.

Mrs. Beeler subsequently refused to pay the $1,207 mortuary bill, although her husband's union at the San Francisco newspaper where he worked as a printer submitted $111 to help cover the mortuary bill.

McCormick Mortuary then sued the widow for the amount owed on their mortuary bill, but her attorney Lee instructed the widow to refuse payment and then filed a cross complaint against the mortuary, alleging they had misled the woman into purchasing the casket when it was not necessary.

S.C. Summer School Techniques Expanded

Students attending summer school this year in San Carlos will get the chance to try out some experimental learning techniques, elementary school trustees were told Wednesday night.

For one, there will be multi-age classes at all grade levels — which means that five-, six- and seven-year-olds may all be in the same class. In the upper grades, ages may span nine through 13.

Another new concept: there will be a Primary School at Brittan Acres for kindergarteners through third grade, and a Middle School at Central School for grades four through seven.

The Middle School, explained Summer School Principal Dick Irisary, would be broken into three "schools": an earth-space science school, a performing arts school and a creative crafts school. Besides these three main areas of interest, children would be given an opportunity to choose one mini-course with a subject matter unrelated to their "school." Mini-courses range from puppetry, typing, and foreign languages to mathematics, vocational exploration and outdoor science and living.

"Which courses will be offered and how the program will be set up depends to a great extent on our enrollment," detailed Irisary. Applications for summer school are scheduled to be distributed to all San Carlos Schools parents next week, according to Superintendent Nelson Burdett.

Irisary and Summer School Vice Principal Dilys Mohn said faculty members are very excited about these new teaching techniques. "We have a staff that is willing to give it a try," affirmed Ms. Mohn. "Of course," she continued, "summer school is only five weeks long and there are limitations to that can be accomplished in that short a time."

The summer school program, which will be completely underwritten by State funds, will run from June 25 to July 27.

3 Caught in M.P. Holdup

Three teen-age bandits who allegedly robbed the H. Salt, Esq. fish and chip shop at 1180 El Camino Real, Menlo Park of $135 on a recent afternoon were captured less than 20 minutes later and only several blocks away.

Booked at County Jail in Redwood City were the two older members of the trio — Virgil D. Doyne, 18, of 469 Waverly Avenue, Menlo Park, manager of a root beer stand in Pacifica, and David Kilgore, 18, of 2535 Emmett Way, East Palo Alto, who listed no occupation. A 15-year-old Menlo Park boy was taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Hall.

The 19-year-old victim reported Doyne came in and asked to use the restroom, but then let Kilgore in the back. Kilgore grabbed a 14-inch knife used to slice fish, and threatened the clerk as the youngest boy grabbed the money out of the cash register, police reported.

Two Men Arrested, Materials Seized In SM Porno Raid

San Mateo police on a recent afternoon raided what they say is the largest pornographic distribution center in northern California in their memory.

Armed with a search warrant, they descended on a warehouse at 739-741 South Claremont street.

Confiscated were 200 professionally prepartd rolls of 8mm film and 300 magazines, police said.

The building was described as containing thousands of magazines, and far more than police had realized, although they had developed, Lt. Richard St. Clair said, information pointing to the warehouse as a prime source of such material.

Simultaneously, police raided the Jay Bird bookstore at 528 East Third Avenue, seizing magazines and films. Warrants were served on Richard Beckhoff and owner Edward Bascaino, charging them with sale and distribution of obscene matter and advertising and promotion for sale of the same, police said.

The police worked with members of the San Jose Police Department, the Redwood City Police Department and the San Mateo County Organized Crime unit, as well as deputy district attorneys of San Mateo County in the crackdown, which culminated. St. Clair said, more than six months of research and preparation.

Simultaneously, police said, San Jose police raided seven bookstores in that city.

Acting on a search warrant, police entered the Excel Distributors Inc. at 741 South Claremont, where they seized the films, magazines and stacks of records.

St. Clair said that investigation indicates Excel is involved in a multi-corporation setup of wide implications, of which Suzi Enterprises, also located at the South Claremont address, appeared the principal stockholder.

Suzi Enterprises, St. Clair said, is the corporate owner of a member of bookstores in northern California, and distributes materials to independent stores in this area.

St. Clair said that in the long investigation, he and other members of the department flew to San Diego to study procedures for similar investigations there, and to develop techniques for the crackdown.

Redwood City provided background research and other assistance, he said.

Working with San Mateo police were the San Jose and Redwood City police departments. Deputy district attorneys from San Mateo and Santa Clara counties served the warrants.

In San Mateo, the search and seizure operation was headed by Lt. Richard St. Clair; Sgt. Richard Lust served the warrant and made the arrests at the San Mateo store.

Participating from the Organized Crime Unit were Sgt. Louis Zirelli and Deputy William Windle. Redwood City Detectives Richard Hamilton and James Granucci participated. San Mateo Detectives Richard Camps and Larry Weissel and officers Dennis Mattocks and John Cook assisted in the warehouse operation.

OLDS OMEGA.
The compact big enough for California.

You've been on Southern California's mountain roads. So you know what a strain they can put on a little import's little engine.

But mountain climbing is only mild exercise for the Olds Omega. As the chart shows, its 250 cubic inches is up to twice the size of the engines in some of those little imports.

What's more, Omega's a compact that's up to a half ton heavier than some imports. And up to a foot longer in wheelbase. So it rides smooth. And solid.

Omega also has the quietness and room you'd expect in an Oldsmobile. Deluxe interior with "wet-look" vinyl trim. Carpeting. And a trunk that isn't filled up by the spare tire.

Compact Olds Omega. 2-door, 4-door or hatchback. Big enough for California. At a small enough price.

Once the only requirement for a beauty queen was a pretty face and nice, curvy frame, but times have changed!

Now, any contestant hopeful must have as much poise and stature as a professional. The pretty face and appealing figure are still very much a part of the contest, but the girl selected as winner conceals a very bright mind inside her beautiful head.

Tanya Wilson, Miss U.S.A.-1972-73 represents this sort of beauty. She is poised and statuesque with a very sharp mind in her pretty blonde head.

Born in Missouri June 8, 1950, Tanya and her family moved to Nevada, where she attended the University of Nevada. While still in school, Tanya and her mother were tempted by that paradise island in the Pacific, Hawaii, so after ridding themselves of their household belongings, they landed in Honolulu with their dogs and clothes and little of anything else.

They are both delighted with themselves for pulling up stakes and making the move. Tanya completed her education at the University of Hawaii, majoring in physical education, English and Spanish and intends to go on and get her Masters Degree in physical education.

Traveling is always a major function of a beauty queen's reign and Tanya is currently touring the country, visiting JC Penney stores, modeling the Miss U.S.A. swimwear collec-

Stretch fabrics are used throughout in combination with the nylon.

This season the collection includes ensembles with long dresses and skirts matching the suits. Combined, they create a lounging outfit suitable for poolside and patio parties.

The silhouettes flatter many figure types ranging from halter top brief bikinis to slimming maillots. There are halter topped swimdresses for those who prefer to minimize some middle problems but still look glamorous.

B. Dalton Opens in Tanforan

B. Dalton, nationwide bookseller, has opend its latest store at Tanforan Park Shopping Center, San Bruno.

The Tanforan store is part of the B. Dalton expansion program of complete bookstores in regional suburban shopping centers.

To date the chain has successfully opened close to one hundred stores in 26 states, including San Francisco, Daly City, Oakland and Concord.

Dalton's Tanforan outlet stocks over 30,000 titles, including hardcovers, paperbacks and children's books. How-to-books and a large assortment of Bibles in a wide price range are great for gifting. A special feature of the San Bruno store is a large and constantly changing assortment of publishers overstocks and specially pirced books obtained from all corners of the world.

Dalton's president Bruce Allbright said. "It is our job to try to relate to each and every customer who passes our store. We believe that there is a large number of readers in our area, people of all types, who hae tremendously diverse interests that commonly outstrip available resources. We can help fill those needs through our regular stock or by one of our services."

Since there are now over 350,000 books in print in the United States, it is obvious that a stock of even 30,000 titles is less than complete. To meet the needs of the customer who can't find the book he wants in the store, B. Dalton will special order any book of the 350,000 in print and also will provide a free gift wrap service. For a nominal charge, it will deliver any purchase anywhere in the United States.

To aid the browser, the store is broken down into hardcover and paperback areas, and each area will be broken down into categories of subject interest.
